PORTLAND FRIDAY FEBRUARY 4 188

ANOTHER UNFOUNDED OBJECTION

The Northern Pacific is coming to Oregon by way of Washington territory, the Southern Pacific is coming to Oregon by way of California, and the Union Pacific, that wants to come to Oregon by a shorter and more direct route than either, ought to be permitted to do so.

The argument that a lease of the O. R. & N. to the Union Pacific would take the regulation of the former out of the jurisdiction of the state has been exploded. That objection is no longer urged. But now it is declared that in case this lease is made the citizen of Oregon whose domestic animal may be killed by the road will not be able to enforce, through a state court, his claim for payment, and therefore that the lease ought not to be permitted.

This argument is quite as unfounded and absurd as the former one that the state could not control or regulate the operation of the road after its lease to a corporation outside the state. The O. R. & N. company, after its lease to the Union Pacific, will not cease to be an Oregon corporation. Its liability as such to the laws of the state will be in no wise diminished by the lease. That the lessees of the property are not residents of the state will make no more difference than that its owners are not residents of the state. The law of the state requires railways to pay for animals killed, and they must pay and do pay, no matter where the owners of the railways reside. A corporation organized under the laws of Oregon is a person in Oregon, and who the lessees may be or where he may live cannot change the status of the corporation or the liability of its property within the state to the laws of the state. Judgment for lawful claims would be against this property and would be enforced upon it, after the lease the same as before it. The present owners of the O. R. & N. property are non-residents, and they may now do every thing that non-resident lessees could do in the matter of appealing from the jurisdiction of the courts of the state to those of the United States. But the jurisdiction of the courts of the United States is limited by law to cases where the matter in dispute, exclusive of costs, exceeds $500 and this, if there were nothing else, would keep almost every suit for animals killed out of the courts of the United States. This fact, however, is not really pertinent. The primary and controlling fact is this, namely, that the corporation known as the O. R. & N. company is a person under the laws of this state, and it will be dealt with by the laws and through the courts of this state, no matter where the owners or lessees of the property may reside.

But if members of the legislature are disposed to stick on this point they may put into the bill a proviso that will easily and entirely remove the objection. Let it be declared in the statute that any corporation granting a lease of its road shall still be held liable under all the laws of the state and to the judicial power of the state for its acts and doings, whether its road be operated by itself or by the employes of the lessee company, the same as if the lease had not been made. This would cover every contingency and remove every objection. True enough, the authority of the state, ample without this proviso, would not be increased by it, but under such express statement no one could profess a doubt.

Another condition, one that might be of real value, may be suggested. It would be well if the bill should provide that only connecting railroads, not parallel ones, should be leased. This would prevent the use of the act in furtherance of combination of parallel lines.

Convinced as it is that the most important thing that could be done for the rapid development of Oregon, including the construction of branch lines throughout the eastern part of the state and the opening of a market for our fruit, lumber and other products towards the East would be the consummation of this lease of the O. R. & N. to the Union Pacific, THE OREGONIAN is earnest, and even urgent, in expressing its desire that the legislature shall enact this amendment to the incorporation law. [illegible] the objection [illegible] stated it will be easy [illegible] the proviso als[illegible] stated herein, and the [illegible]ity will then be assured by the terms of [illegible] itself that when any lease is made under [illegible] there will be no less liability to the laws [illegible] the courts of [illegible] state than existed [illegible].

A CONTEST IN PROSPECT

The long struggle in the Indiana legislature over the succession to the U. S. senate has terminated in the election of David Turpie. Turpie is a lawyer of ability and was commended to the affectionate regard of his fellow bourbons on the ground that he was an intense partisan of the South during the rebellion, or, in common parlance, was a copperhead. Indiana, a state which, under Gov Morton, sent nearly 200,000 soldiers into the armies of the Union, now sends a copperhead to the U. S. senate to occupy the seat in which Gen Harrison, a Union soldier and grandson of the hero of Tippecanoe, has sat for six years. When the Indiana democracy found out that the republican candidate (Robertson) had been elected lieutenant-governor and would preside over the senate, they suddenly discovered that the attorney general had decided erroneously that the vacancy caused by the resignation of Lieut Gov Manson could be filled by election before [illegible]. The executive department was advised that it was competent to order an election [illegible] the vacancy at the time and place [illegible] the members of the general assembly, [illegible] Turpie who has just been chosen [illegible] was of the [illegible] that the vacancy must continue until the next election. If the democrats had elected their candidate for lieutenant governor the question would never have been raised. Th[illegible] of the republicans was that the proper constitutional tribunal for the determination of the question of the right of the republican who had been elected lieutenant governor to administer the duties of that office, was the general assembly, which alone was competent [illegible] the action of the executive that had ordered the election. The democrats ran to the courts and the democratic judges decided what they had no business to decide, that the executive who ordered the election for lieutenant-governor was wrongly advised by the attorney general. Then the senate republicans threw away their advantage by agreeing to a compromise which deprived them of the vote of their lieutenant-governor. These republican senators cared more about holding their own seats than they did about the re-election of Harrison. The majority in each house had adopted rules that gave them the power to throw out any member of the minority. The democratic leaders in the senate threatened to unseat all the republican senators unless the latter agreed to the compromise, and the republican senators then gave way and consented to the compromise, which was certain to elect Turpie as soon as the democratic-greenbacker, who voted with three labor republicans for a third candidate, was bribed or bulldozed into a return to his party camp.

Turpie goes to Washington with the fact against him that his majority was secured by the arbitrary unseating of a republican senator on an unproved charge of bribery and replacing him with his defeated democratic competitor. Another fact that will damage his case will be that the republican lieutenant governor of the state, who by law should preside over the joint convention, was prevented by a democratic conspiracy from occupying his office and executing this duty. The republicans will meet in joint convention and elect Harrison and thus present a formal case for contest before the United States senate. Congressman Bynum was quoted early in the contest as saying that "in this event the republican senate will seat Harrison, although his commission will lack Gov. Gray's signature, following the precedent in the South Carolina case, where Butler was seated on credentials from precisely such a body as the Indiana republicans can muster."

The contest in New Jersey in all probability, will also have to be settled by the senate. The democrats have in the legislature a majority of one over all on the joint ballot, but this was obtained by seating one man whom the chief justice of the state declared not elected and another who owes his certificate to the fraudulent alteration of ballots after election. The senate, having a republican majority of three refuses to organize, and if it persists in its refusal the legislature cannot elect a successor to Senator Sewell. If the senate backs down a democrat will be elected, and in that case there would be a contest before the United States senate. If the New Jersey house unseats its tainted members the republicans would elect the senator, but this is unlikely.

PROFLIGACY AND ITS PARENTAGE

Unfortunately the whole consequences of the swamp land act and its ill advised interpretations have not been confined to seizure of the lands themselves. A further consequence has been the birth of sundry jobs through which the money paid in on account of the lands has been utterly wasted. Over and above the sums actually paid out on account of wagon roads that never were constructed there remains a large amount of outstanding warrants drawn on the swamp land fund. Gov. Pennoyer gives in his special message on the subject a statement of these warrants and their amount, principal and interest—the whole amounting to $94,[illegible] 54. Nearly one-half of this whole amount is on account of The Dalles and Sandy wagon road, so called. This was a job without a redeeming feature. No road exists there and the object of the appropriation was not to make a road, but to get the money. And the job is rendered worse still by the fact that the interest which the state now must pay considerably exceeds the principal. Profligate administration of the swamp land business has led to further profligacy in expenditure of the proceeds of the lands, so that not only has the money been squandered as it came in, but its coming in has been anticipated by appropriations upon various jobs, and warrants have been drawn therefor, upon which the interest now to be paid equals or exceeds the principal. Such management is disgraceful. It is, however only the natural sequel to the swamp land act and its ill advised interpretation. After the act of 1878 the Thayer administration did a wrong thing, and the Moody administration followed the bad precedent. At length we have an administration that is unanimously and solidly right on this question. The whole profligate and dirty business ought now to be cleaned up once for all. For years THE OREGONIAN has been sounding a lonely note on this subject, and now it is glad at last to find in power an administration that will make the thing felt which it has tried so long to make heard.

A question may be asked about Judge Reuben P. Boise. Isn't he and hasn't he for many years been quite too persistent and active as a lobbyist about the legislature for a man of his position and old time reputation? To say that this is unbecoming certainly is a mild enough word for it.

Let the Union Pacific into Oregon and it will build here the immense amount of rolling stock necessary for its thousands of miles of road. Here are the materials for building this rolling stock, and here the great road will sustain shops that will employ an army of men.

Among recent deaths of eminent foreigners is that of Sir Joseph Whitworth, inventor of the celebrated gun which bears his name.

FROM IDAHO.

BELLEVUE, Idaho, Jan 28.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

We left Doniphan a little after noon on the 24th inst on snow shoes as the roads were drifted full of snow and impassable for teams and being out of practice in this kind of traveling, our progress was rather slow. We got into Hailey (twelve miles) a little after 5 o'clock P M and arrived here the same evening.

The day before leaving Doniphan we descended to the 100 foot level of the No 2 mine where a drift is being run eastwardly on the ledge and the ore is improving with every foot advanced. At the shaft large bodies of sulphurets of iron were found but at the face of the drift (about sixty feet) the ore changed and became oxidized and is far richer in free gold than any ever before found in this mine. [illegible] the face of the drift is in this kind of ore and the superintendent informed us that they were going to sample ten tons immediately at the mill, and expected it would yield $[illegible] per ton. [illegible] amalgamating department of the mill [illegible] happy to say that some ore from the [illegible] was tried in the mill and yielded [illegible] per ton in gold, and assays [illegible] ore went from $27 to $60 per ton [illegible] soon as they can get the roads broken they intend to get in a good supply of coal and put the shaft down another hundred feet but unless the company put in different machinery they can[not] work any of the ore from [illegible] profitably [illegible].

Business in Bellevue is pretty good although the weather is stormy the past few days and plenty of freight and coal is coming in by railroad from the East and teams are busy hauling ore to be shipped to Eastern smelters and taking back to the mines near here coal and supplies. Much ore and bullion goes to Salt Lake which city, by the way is becoming quite a mining center and depot of supplies. The population of that city has increased the past year about 50 per cent and was estimated on January 1 at over 2[illegible],000. For the week ending December 25 there was received in bullion and ore at Salt Lake the sum of $215,[illegible] 45 and over one third was lead and silver ores and bullion from the mines here on Wood river. From all reports from the smelting towns east of here especially Denver, Omaha and Pueblo the outlook for business is very satisfactory and they are preparing for an increased business in the future.

Mrs A S Duniway has been lecturing to large houses here on Wood river but we did not have the pleasure of attending, but hear the lady well spoken of as a lecturer by all who heard her. The legislature of the territory is now in session at Boise City and many of the leading citizens are absent attending to matters there. There is an effort being made to divide this county at present and [illegible] this place the majority in fact we might say nearly everybody is in favor of division as Alturas [illegible] the largest county in the territory and [illegible] greatly works great hardship to many residents [illegible] [illegible]

The snow is about sixteen inches [illegible] and the weather stormy but large loads of [illegible] and supplies are being hauled over the snow to the different mines and [illegible] of ore to be shipped by rail. [illegible]

DOMESTIC NEWS.

The Woman Suffrage Law of Washington Unconstitutional.

CHIEF JUSTICE GREENE DISSENTS

Republican Officers in a Colorado County Driven Out by a Mob—Another Big Telephone Suit —A Day's Record

OLYMPIA, Feb 3.—The woman suffrage act of Washington territory was declared unconstitutional by the supreme court to-day. The opinions were rendered by Langford and Turner, Chief Justice Greene dissenting. The ground of the decision was want of conformity to the organic act, the title being defective in not expressing the object of the bill. The opinion declares women ineligible to act as electors or jurors. The case which brought the matter up was Harland vs. Territory, Second district, for gambling. The decision has caused a decided sensation here.

A REIGN OF ANARCHY

Republican Officers of a Colorado County Driven from Home and their Houses Burned

DENVER, Feb 3.—Pagosa Springs, the county seat of Archuleta county, is in a state of anarchy. A mob has driven the county commissioners from the town, burned several houses of Commissioner Scase and forced him to resign his office at the muzzle of a revolver. A special from there says: F B Martinez, J P Archuleta and Mr Scase, republican county commissioners, were on January 3 unseated by the democratic sheriff named Height. The act was perpetrated with political intent and the mob which followed the sheriff after having accomplished the act of intimidation burned the house of Mr Scase at Pagosa Springs. This last act was committed Monday during the absence of Mr Scase in Denver.

RACE PREJUDICE

Last November the above named commissioners were elected by republican votes. At the same time a democrat named Height was elected sheriff. There was great feeling at the polls but a preponderating Mexican vote assured Martinez, Archuleta and Scase of their triumph over the attacks of their antagonists. They were Mexicans and this too added strength to the bitterness prevalent. The feeling increased instead of diminishing as the time for their induction into office approached and on January 3 at the county seat the time for their official appearance, an armed mob of fifteen or twenty determined men led by Sheriff Height forced their way into the room where the commissioners were seated and demanded of them that they vacate their seats. The sheriff insisted on their resignations being made at once else there would be bloodshed. The commissioners mistaking the temper of the mob refused under the impression that the demonstration was nothing more than a bluster but the mob intent on their purpose took forcible possession of the commissioners and with more threats locked them in a room declaring it to be their purpose to starve them into submission.

At the time of the forcible entry Martinez left his room and escaped from the building. A delegation overtook him and forcibly dragged him through the streets to the courthouse and locked him up with his companions.

COMPELLED TO RESIGN

Finally at the expiration of five or six hours the mob permitted their prisoners to go but the concession seemed to be for a purpose. As soon as the three commissioners separated the mob with the sheriff still at their head followed Commissioner Scase to his home. Scase was proprietor of a hotel in Pagosa Springs, and it was here he resided. The mob surrounded the hotel and taking Scase again in custody, he was dragged forth from the midst of his family and with a gun barrel at his head compelled to resign his office as commissioner. The resignation so obtained was at once forwarded to Gov Adams and instructions sent with it that he appoint at once a democrat in place of Scase.

Since that time the board has not met, no laws have been enforced and a condition of things approaching anarchy has prevailed. The commissioners have not been permitted to set foot in the county since the day they were warned, at the peril of their lives not to return. In fact it was dangerous to remain in the vicinity and so they started at once to Denver not only for protection but to lay their grievances before their representatives in the legislature and the governor.

The governor is doing all in his power to secure a peaceful settlement. The matter was brought before the general assembly to-day, and a joint committee was appointed to investigate the affair at once.

THE EUROPEAN WAR CLOUD

A General Belief that France and Germany will Fight this Year.

NEW YORK, Feb 3.—Tribune's [illegible]: The Paris correspondent of the Daily T[illegible] claims that [illegible] of France will be [illegible] becoming [illegible] [illegible] hazards [illegible] officials and official papers [illegible] to [illegible] that [illegible] because he personifies the idea of revenge [illegible] station of life [illegible] so much as peace and Boulanger [illegible] all his power to avert war with Germany. I hear that the military party in Berlin are the real representatives of a coup being attempted by Boulanger. [illegible] say the French, "if our war minister is feared it is because he is known to be the best administrator we ever have had since the [illegible] was established and we cannot dismiss a man from his position because he has done his work better than his predecessors. There is one way left of dispelling the clouds which have gathered so quickly on the horizon. As Bismarck has asserted that he never will attack France it is the duty of France to make a similar declaration in strong form. I am told on excellent authority that the question of doing so has been more than once mooted in cabinet council but M Goblet has always refused on the ground that it would be a bad precedent to reply to newspaper reports."

ENGLAND AND RUSSIA

NEW YORK, Feb 3.—A private London cable gram says that England's extensive war preparations are made more with a view to protecting India next spring, than in the expectation of European hostilities. The Afghanistan revolt is most formidable and will assume renewed vigor on the opening of spring. Russia is closely watching events and has a large force of troops on the Afghan frontier. Sarcastic allusion of the St Petersburg Gazette to Lord Salisbury's speech stating that England's foreign policy was pacific is regarded as an indication of trouble for England in India.

ANOTHER BIG TELEPHONE SUIT

A Contest for the Right to Operate Long Distance Lines

PHILADELPHIA, Feb 3.—[illegible] the right to erect [illegible] telephone wires between New York, Philadelphia and various [illegible] was begun in the United States court by a bill in equity filed this afternoon by attorneys for the [illegible] Construction company. Defendants are the Bell telephone syndicate and the [illegible] corporation which has recently opened offices in various [illegible]. The prospectus issued by the defendant company says that the telephone exchange in New York, Brooklyn and adjacent cities is now being put in for a metallic circuit system [illegible] connection with these lines by which Philadelphia business men will be placed in direct communication with any of the subscribers to the telephone exchange in New York and surrounding villages and cities in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut numbering in all over 5,000 stations. Plaintiffs claim that they bought [illegible] right under the patent to use and make metallic lines through [illegible] the United States for a term of seventeen years from February 1881. That they have expended large sums of money in perfecting the system but that defendants are violating their exclusive right. It is claimed that the application of the long distance telephone to modern business purposes renders the prospective value of the ownership of the metallic circuit to be contested in the courts second only to that of the telephone itself.

EASTERN NEWS ITEMS

THE GREAT STRIKE AT NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Feb 3.—The air is full of rumors about negotiations looking to a termination of the big strike, some of which are of Wall street origin and some are credited to the executive committee of the district assembly. The former allege that the men will be at work again within twenty four hours. The managers of the strike however assert with much emphasis that they are doing all in their power to extend it. They are endeavoring to take in all towns on the coast between Maine and Florida. This only could be done by exerting great influence.

At Pythagoras hall the Knights' headquarters, the new idea of the strikers—that of refusing to pay rent—was the uppermost topic of discussion. A Wheeling delegate, well informed as to the goings on in the council of the district assembly, said: "I only know it is being talked up by the heads of all the assemblies, and many regard it as a trump card to be played. The idea is for the Knights in New York, Brooklyn and Jersey City to refuse to pay a cent of rent until the present strike has been settled in favor of the workingmen. It is purely an Irish idea, adopted from Parnell. We are told there are at least 45,000 Knights in New York, Jersey City and Brooklyn. We are already committed to it. If the plan were carried, the courts would be so black with ejectment cases that some of them could not be reached for months."

The house is situated some distance off the main road. The man's body was in a pool of blood [illegible] floor in a room down stairs with the throat cut from ear to ear. The woman was found in a bed room up stairs with the head severed from the body. Both had evidently been dead for five or six days as decomposition had already set in. It is supposed that they were murdered and robbed. There is no clue to the perpetrators of the deed.

Operators Paralyzed, and the Wildest Rumors in Circulation.

LONDON, Feb 3.—A panic on the stock exchange set in with the greatest force in the afternoon. Earlier in the day English buying met the continental rush to sell but later large selling seized English operators and dealers refused to make prices. The wildest rumors were created. The best home and foreign securities were largely sold. Business continued active in the street until Paris bourse quotations were received which showed that the panic was intensifying on the continent. This caused a depression at the close. The depression of railroad securities was partially checked by New York buying.

ANOTHER UNFOUNDED OBJECTION

The Northern Pacific is coming to Oregon by way of Washington territory, the Southern Pacific is coming to Oregon by way of California, and the Union Pacific, that wants to come to Oregon by a shorter and more direct route than either, ought to be permitted to do so.

The argument that a lease of the O. R. & N. to the Union Pacific would take the regulation of the former out of the jurisdiction of the state has been exploded. That objection is no longer urged. But now it is declared that in case this lease is made the citizen of Oregon whose domestic animal may be killed by the road will not be able to enforce, through a state court, his claim for payment, and therefore that the lease ought not to be permitted.

This argument is quite as unfounded and absurd as the former one that the state could not control or regulate the operation of the road after its lease to a corporation outside the state. The O. R. & N. company, after its lease to the Union Pacific, will not cease to be an Oregon corporation. Its liability as such to the laws of the state will be in no wise diminished by the lease. That the lessees of the property are not residents of the state will make no more difference than that its owners are not residents of the state. The law of the state requires railways to pay for animals killed, and they must pay and do pay, no matter where the owners of the railways reside. A corporation organized under the laws of Oregon is a person in Oregon, and who the lessee may be or where he may live cannot change the status of the corporation or the liability of its property within the state to the laws of the state. Judgment for lawful claims would be against this property and would be enforced upon it, after the lease the same as before it. The present owners of the O. R. & N. property are non-residents, and they may now do every thing that non-resident lessees could do in the matter of appealing from the jurisdiction of the courts of the state to those of the United States. But the jurisdiction of the courts of the United States is limited by law to cases where the matter in dispute, exclusive of costs, exceeds $500, and this, if there were nothing else, would keep almost every suit for animals killed out of the courts of the United States. This fact, however, is not really pertinent. The primary and controlling fact is this, namely, that the corporation known as the O. R. & N. company is a person under the laws of this state, and it will be dealt with by the laws and through the courts of this state, no matter where the owners or lessees of the property may reside.

But if members of the legislature are disposed to stick on this point they may put into the bill a proviso that will easily and entirely remove the objection. Let it be declared in the statute that any corporation granting a lease of its road shall still be held liable under all the laws of the state and to the judicial power of the state for its acts and doings, whether its road be operated by itself or by the employes of the lessee company, the same as if the lease had not been made. This would cover every contingency and remove every objection. True enough, the authority of the state, ample without this proviso, would not be increased by it, but under such express statement no one could profess a doubt.

Another condition, one that might be of real value, may be suggested. It would be well if the bill should provide that only connecting railroads, not parallel ones, should be leased. This would prevent the use of the act in furtherance of combination of parallel lines.

Convinced as it is that the most important thing that could be done for the rapid development of Oregon, including the construction of branch lines throughout the eastern part of the state and the opening of a market for our fruit, lumber and other products towards the East would be the consummation of this lease of the O. R. & N. to the Union Pacific, THE OREGONIAN is earnest, and even urgent, in expressing its desire that the legislature shall enact this amendment to the incorporation law. To meet and remove the objection here stated it will be easy to insert the proviso also stated herein, and the [illegible]try will then be assured by the terms of the act itself that when any lease is made under it there will be no less liability to the laws and the courts of the state than existed [illegible]

A CONTEST IN PROSPECT

The long struggle in the Indiana legislature over the succession to the U. S. senate has terminated in the election of David Turpie. Turpie is a lawyer of ability and was commended to the affectionate regard of his fellow bourbons on the ground that he was an intense partisan of the South during the rebellion, or, in common parlance, was a copperhead. Indiana, a state which, under Gov. Morton, sent nearly 200,000 soldiers into the armies of the Union, now sends a copperhead to the U. S. senate to occupy the seat in which Gen. Harrison, a Union soldier and grandson of the hero of Tippecanoe, has sat for six years. When the Indiana democracy found out that the republican candidate (Robertson) had been elected lieutenant governor and would preside over the senate, they suddenly discovered that the attorney general had decided erroneously that the vacancy caused by the resignation of Lieut. Gov. Manson could be filled by election [illegible]. The executive department was advised that it was competent to order an election [illegible] at the time and place of holding the [illegible] of the general assembly which Turpie who has just been chosen senator was of the opinion that the vacancy must continue until the next election. If the democrats had elected their candidate for lieutenant governor the question would never have been raised. The [illegible] of the republicans was that the proper constitutional tribunal for the determination of the question of the right of the republican, who had been elected lieutenant governor, to administer the duties of that office, was the general assembly, which alone was competent to judge of the action of the executive that had ordered the election. The democrats ran to the courts and the democratic judges decided what they had no business to decide, that the executive who ordered the election for lieutenant governor was wrongly advised by the attorney general. Then the senate republicans threw away their advantage by agreeing to a compromise which deprived them of the vote of their lieutenant-governor. These republican senators cared more about holding their own seats than they did about the re-election of Harrison. The majority in each house had adopted rules that gave them the power to throw out any member of the minority. The democratic leaders in the senate threatened to unseat all the republican senators unless the latter agreed to the compromise, and the republican senators then gave way and consented to the compromise, which was certain to elect Turpie as soon as the democratic-greenbacker, who voted with three labor republicans for a third candidate, was bribed or bulldozed into a return to his party camp.

Turpie goes to Washington with the fact against him that his majority was secured by the arbitrary unseating of a republican senator on an unproved charge of bribery and replacing him with his defeated democratic competitor. Another fact that will damage his case will be that the republican lieutenant governor of the state, who by law should preside over the joint convention, was prevented by a democratic conspiracy from occupying his office and executing this duty. The republicans will meet in joint convention and elect Harrison and thus present a formal case for contest before the United States senate. Congressman Bynum was quoted early in the contest as saying that "in this event the republican senate will seat Harrison, although his commission will lack Gov. Gray's signature, following the precedent in the South Carolina case, where Butler was seated on credentials from precisely such a body as the Indiana republicans can muster."

The contest in New Jersey in all probability, will also have to be settled by the senate. The democrats have in the legislature a majority of one over all on the joint ballot, but this was obtained by seating one man whom the chief justice of the state declared not elected and another who owes his certificate to the fraudulent alteration of ballots after election. The senate, having a republican majority of three refuses to organize, and if it persists in its refusal the legislature cannot elect a successor to Senator Sewell. If the senate backs down a democrat will be elected, and in that case there would be a contest before the United States senate. If the New Jersey house unseats its tainted members the republicans would elect the senator, but this is unlikely.

Unfortunately the whole consequences of the swamp land act and its ill advised interpretations have not been confined to seizure of the lands themselves. A further consequence has been the birth of sundry jobs through which the money paid in on account of the lands has been utterly wasted. Over and above the sums actually paid out on account of wagon roads that never were constructed, there remains a large amount of outstanding warrants drawn on the swamp land fund. Gov. Pennoyer gives in his special message on the subject a statement of these warrants and their amount, principal and interest—the whole amounting to $91,[illegible]. Nearly one-half of this whole amount is on account of The Dalles and Sandy wagon road, so called. This was a job without a redeeming feature. No road exists there and the object of the appropriation was not to make a road, but to get the money. And the job is rendered worse still by the fact that the interest which the state now must pay considerably exceeds the principal. Profligate administration of the swamp land business has led to further profligacy in expenditure of the proceeds of the lands, so that not only has the money been squandered as it came in, but its coming in has been anticipated by appropriations upon various jobs, and warrants have been drawn therefor, upon which the interest now to be paid equals or exceeds the principal. Such management is disgraceful. It is, however only the natural sequel to the swamp land act and its ill advised interpretation. After the act of 1878 the Thayer administration did a wrong thing, and the Moody administration followed the bad precedent. At length we have an administration that is unanimously and solidly right on this question. The whole profligate and dirty business ought now to be cleaned up, once for all. For years THE OREGONIAN has been sounding a lonely note on this subject, and now it is glad at last to find in power an administration that will make the thing felt which it has tried so long to make heard.

A question may be asked about Judge Reuben P. Boise. Isn't he and hasn't he for many years been quite too persistent and active as a lobbyist about the legislature for a man of his position and old time reputation? To say that this is unbecoming certainly is a mild enough word for it.

Let the Union Pacific into Oregon and it will build here the immense amount of rolling stock necessary for its thousands of miles of road. Here are the materials for building this rolling stock, and here the great road will sustain shops that will employ an army of men.

Among recent deaths of eminent foreigners is that of Sir Joseph Whitworth, inventor of the celebrated gun which bears his name.

FROM IDAHO.

BELLEVUE, Idaho, Jan. 28.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

We left Doniphan a little after noon on the 24th inst. on snow shoes as the roads were drifted full of snow and impassable for teams and being out of practice in this kind of traveling our progress was rather slow. We got into Hailey (twelve miles) a little after 5 o'clock P. M. and arrived here the same evening.

The day before leaving Doniphan we descended to the 100-foot level of the No. 2 mine where a drift is being run eastward on the ledge and the ore is improving with every foot advanced. At the shaft large bodies of sulphurets of iron were found, but at the face of the drift (about sixty feet) the ore changed and became oxidized and is far richer in free gold than any ever before found in this mine. The whole face of the drift is in this kind of ore and the superintendent informed us that they were going to sample [illegible] immediately [illegible] the mill, and expected [illegible] $40 per ton.

To [illegible] from the amalgamating department of the mill we have only to say that some ore from the 100-foot [illegible] was tried in the mill and yielded [illegible] per ton in gold and assays of the [illegible] ore went from $27 to $60 per ton. As soon as they can get the roads broken they intend to get in a good supply of coal and put the shaft down another hundred feet, but unless the company put in different machinery they cannot work any of the ore from this shaft profitably in their mill.

Business in Bellevue is pretty good although the weather is stormy the past few days and plenty of freight and coal is coming in by railroad from the East and teams are busy hauling ore to be shipped to Eastern smelters and taking back to the mines [illegible] coal and supplies. Much ore and [illegible] goes to Salt Lake which city by the way is becoming quite a mining center and depot of supplies. The population of that city has increased the past year about 30 per cent. and was estimated on January 1 at over 2[illegible],000. For the week ending December 23 there was received in bullion and ore at Salt Lake the sum of $[illegible],45 and over one third was lead and silver ores and bullion from the mines here on Wood river. From all reports from the smelting towns east of here especially Denver, Omaha and Pueblo the outlook for business is very satisfactory and they are preparing for an increased business in the future.

Mrs. A. S. Duniway has been lecturing to large houses here on Wood river but we did not have the pleasure of attending, but hear the lady well spoken of as a lecturer by all who heard her. The legislature of the territory is now in session at Boise City and many of the leading citizens are absent at [illegible]. There is an [illegible] this county at present [illegible] majority in fact we may say nearly every body is in favor of division. As it was [illegible] territory [illegible] many residents [illegible] county seat [illegible] Idaho [illegible] Washington [illegible] Nevada has just pledged himself [illegible] the southern part of Idaho [illegible] Nevada [illegible] danger [illegible]. The Woman Suffrage Law of Washington Unconstitutional.

CHIEF JUSTICE GREENE DISSENTS

Republican Officers in a Colorado County Driven Out by a Mob—Another Big Telephone Suit —A Day's Record

OLYMPIA, Feb. 3.—The woman suffrage act of Washington territory was declared unconstitutional by the supreme court to-day. The opinions were rendered by Langford and Turner, Chief Justice Greene dissenting. The ground of the decision was want of conformity to the organic act, the title being defective in not expressing the object of the bill. The opinion declares women ineligible to act as electors or jurors. The case which brought the matter up was Harland vs. Territory, Second district, for gambling. The decision has caused a decided sensation here.

A REIGN OF ANARCHY

Republican Officers of a Colorado County Driven from Home and their Houses Burned

DENVER, Feb. 2.—Pagosa Springs, the county seat of Archuleta county, is in a state of anarchy, which has driven the county commissioners from the town, burned several houses of Commissioner Scase and forced him to resign his office at the point of a revolver. A special from there says: J. B. Martinez, J. P. Archuleta and Mr. Scase, republican county commissioners, were on January 3 unseated by the democratic sheriff, named Height. The act was perpetrated with political intent and the mob which followed the sheriff after having accomplished the act of intimidation, burned the house of Mr. Scase at Pagosa Springs. This last act was committed Monday during the absence of Mr. Scase in Denver.

RACE PREJUDICE.

Last November the above named commissioners were elected by republican votes. At the same time a democrat named Height was elected sheriff. There was great feeling at the polls, but a preponderating Mexican vote assured Martinez, Archuleta and Scase of their triumph over the attacks of their antagonists. They were Mexicans and this too added strength to the bitterness prevalent. The feeling increased instead of diminishing, as the time for their induction into office approached, and on January 3 at the county seat the time for their official appearance, an armed mob of fifteen or twenty determined men, led by Sheriff Height, forced their way into the room where the commissioners were seated and demanded of them that they vacate their seats. The sheriff insisted on their resignations being made at once, else there would be bloodshed. The commissioners mistaking the temper of the mob, realized under the impression that the demonstration was nothing more than a bluster, but the mob, intent on their purpose, took forcible possession of the commissioners and with more threats locked them in a room, declaring it to be their purpose to starve them into submission.

At the time of the forcible entry Martinez left the room and escaped from the building. A delegation overtook him and forcibly dragged him through the streets to the courthouse and locked him up with his companions.

COMPELLED TO RESIGN.

Finally at the expiration of five or six hours the mob permitted their prisoners to go, but the concession seemed to be for a purpose. As soon as the three commissioners separated the mob, with the sheriff still at their head, followed Commissioner Scase to his home. Scase was proprietor of a hotel in Pagosa Springs, and it was here he resided. The mob surrounded the hotel, and taking Scase again in custody, he was dragged forth from the midst of his family and with a gun barrel at his head compelled to resign his office as commissioner. The resignation so obtained was at once forwarded to Gov. Adams, and instructions sent with it that he appoint at once a democrat in place of Scase.

Since that time the board has not met, no laws have been enforced and a condition of things approaching anarchy has prevailed. The commissioners have not been permitted to set foot in the county since the day they were warned at the peril of their lives not to return. In fact it was dangerous to remain in the vicinity, and so they started at once to Denver not only for protection but to lay their grievances before their representatives in the legislature and the governor.

The governor is doing all in his power to secure a peaceful settlement. The matter was brought before the general assembly to-day, and a joint committee was appointed to investigate the affair at once.

THE EUROPEAN WAR CLOUD.

A General Belief that France and Germany will Fight this Year

NEW YORK, Feb. —Tribune's [illegible] special: The Paris correspondent of the Daily T[illegible] [illegible] the situation of France [illegible] [illegible] becoming [illegible] [illegible] at all hazards [illegible] officials and official papers [illegible] [illegible] actual [illegible] to Germany, because he personifies the idea of revenge, is nobody in whatever station of life [illegible] ing so much as peace and no [illegible] using all his power to avert war with Germany. I hear that the military clique in Berlin are the real representatives of a coup being attempted by Boulanger. But, say the French, if our war minister is feared it is because he is known to be the best administrator we ever have had since the [illegible] was established and we cannot dismiss a man from his position because he [illegible] his work better than [illegible] predecessors. There is one way left of dispelling the clouds which have gathered so quickly on the horizon. As Bismarck has asserted that he never will attack France, it is the duty of France to make a similar declaration in strong form. I am told on excellent authority that the question of doing so has been more than once mooted in cabinet council, but M. Goblet has always refused on the ground that it would be a bad precedent to reply to newspaper reports.

ENGLAND AND RUSSIA.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—A private London cablegram says that England's extensive war preparations are made more with a view to protecting India next spring, than in the expectation of European hostilities. The Afghanistan revolt is most formidable and will assume renewed vigor on the opening of spring. Russia is closely watching events and has a large force of troops on the Afghan frontier. Sarcastic allusion of the St. Petersburg Gazette to Lord Salisbury's speech stating that England's foreign policy was pacific is regarded as an indication of trouble for England in India.

ANOTHER BIG TELEPHONE SUIT

A Contest for the Right to Operate Long Distance Lines

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 3.—[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] New York [illegible] [illegible] and various large [illegible] United States court by [illegible] attorneys for [illegible] [illegible] construction company [illegible] Bell telephone [illegible] [illegible] poration which has recently [illegible] [illegible] miles. The prospectus issued [illegible] company says that the telephone [illegible] New York, Brooklyn and adjacent [illegible] [illegible] metallic circuit [illegible] connection with these lines by which [illegible] business men will be placed in direct [illegible] [illegible] the telephone exchanges of New York and surrounding [illegible] New Jersey [illegible] numbering in all over 1[illegible] stations. Plaintiffs claim that they bought the [illegible] right under the patent to [illegible] [illegible] United States for a term of seventeen years from February 1881; that they have expended large sums of money in perfecting the system, which defendants are violating, their exclusive right. It is claimed that rapid application of the long distance telephone to modern business [illegible] renders the prospective value of this [illegible] the courts second only to that of the telephone itself.

EASTERN NEWS ITEMS.

THE GREAT STRIKE AT NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The air is full of rumors about negotiations looking to a termination of the big strike, some of which are of Wall street origin and some are credited to the executive committee of the district assembly. The former allege that the men will be at work again within twenty-four hours. The managers of the strike, however, assert with much emphasis that they are doing all in their power to extend it. They are endeavoring to take in all towns on the coast between Maine and Florida. This only could be done by exerting great influence.

At Pythagoras hall, the Knights' headquarters, the new idea of the strikers—that of refusing to pay rent—was the uppermost topic of discussion. A Wheeling delegate, well informed as to the doings in the council of the district assembly, said: "I only know it is being talked up by the heads of all the assemblies, and many regard it as a trump card to be played. The idea is for the Knights in New York, Brooklyn and Jersey City to refuse to pay a cent of rent until the present strike has been settled in favor of the workingmen. It is purely an Irish idea, adopted from Parnell. We are told there are at least 45,000 Knights in New York, Jersey City and Brooklyn. We are already committed to it. If the plan were carried, the courts would be so black with ejectment cases that some of them could not be reached for months."

THE MANNING AND JORDAN BANK.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 2.—United States Treasurer C. N. Jordan was in town to-day, and held a conference with Samuel R. Chipley, George T. Tayle and others, relative to stock in the Philadelphia Western National bank to begin business May 1. It is stated that Secretary Manning will be president, and Jordan is to be cashier.

COMPELLED TO SHUT DOWN.

HUNTER'S POINT, L. I., Feb. —Owing to the continued strike of the stevedores at their docks and inability to ship goods, the Devoe Manufacturing company were compelled to shut down to-day, throwing out of employment between 300 and 400 persons. It is feared that other oil works will be shut down unless the strike soon ends.

CRIMINAL CALENDAR.

A GHASTLY DISCOVERY.

PRISTAL, [illegible] [illegible]—This village [illegible] ity was thrown into great excitement over a horrible discovery this morning in a house in the backwoods about a mile and a half from the village, the dead bodies of a man and a woman [illegible] whose names have not yet been ascertained. The house is situated some distance off the main road. The man's body was in a pool of blood [illegible] floor in a room downstairs with the throat cut from ear to ear. The woman was found in [illegible] room upstairs with the head severed from the body. Both had evidently been dead for five or six days as decomposition had already set in. It is supposed that they were murdered and robbed. There is no clue to the perpetrators of the deed.

CALIFORNIA.

SMALLPOX AT PANAMA.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 3.—The steamer San Juan arrived from Panama to-day. She brought information that the Star and Herald editorially announces the prevalence of smallpox and says there are nearly thirty cases in the Panama canal company's hospital. It also publishes a card from the director general of the company saying there are but four smallpox patients in the hospital and sufferers from the disease have never exceeded that number.

PERU SENDS FOR WHEAT.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 3.—A Peruvian vessel of 1200 tons is loading at this port with wheat for Peru, as the latter country has cut off all communication with Chili, from which place she has been accustomed to draw her supply. This supply will now be obtained from California. The cause of the non-intercourse of Peru with Chili is the alleged prevalence of cholera in the latter country.

DIPHTHERIA.

Seven new cases of diphtheria were reported to-day.

PANIC IN LONDON.

Operators Paralyzed, and the Wildest Rumors in Circulation

LONDON, Feb. 3.—A panic on the stock exchange set in with the greatest force in the afternoon. Earlier in the day English buying met the continental rush to sell, but later alarm seized English operators and dealers refused to make prices. The wildest rumors were created. The best home and foreign securities were largely sold. Business continued active in the street until Paris bourse quotations were received which showed that the panic was intensifying on the continent. This caused a depression at the close. The depression of railroad securities was partially checked by New York buying.

Cancer of the Tongue

My wife some three or four years ago was troubled with an ulcer on the side of her tongue near the throat. The pain was incessant, causing loss of sleep and producing great nervous prostration. Accompanying this trouble was rheumatism. It had passed from the shoulders and centered in the wrist of one hand she almost losing the use of it. Between the suffering of the two life had grown burdensome. By the use of a half dozen small sized bottles of Swift's Specific, she was entirely relieved and restored to health. This was three years ago and there has been no return of the disease.

THE INTERSTATE COMMERCE BILL.

Arrival in Washington of Two of the President's Old Time Advisers—The Apaches in Florida—Congressional Notes.

WASHINGTON, Feb [illegible]—The secretary of war has transmitted to Senator McMillan chairman of the committee on commerce, a letter calling his attention to an item in the river and harbor bill as it passed the house providing for a survey of the dalles of the Columbia with a view to its improvement by means of a boat railway. The secretary states that this survey cannot be executed unless a special appropriation therefor of at least $15,000 be made. Mr. Dolph thinks this amount at least [illegible] Other plans however are being [illegible] and which it is hoped that an appropriation for beginning work may be made

THE WILLAMETTE AT CORVALLIS

The secretary of war to-day transmitted to the senate the report of Maj. Jones in answer to Dolph's resolution inquiring what works are necessary to prevent impairment of the channel of the Willamette river at Corvallis. In brief Maj. Jones's plan is to revet with a brush mattress the [illegible] slope of the unstable bank. In order to check the current across the lower peninsula at high water, a riffled hurdle should be laid ten feet back of the revetted slope. The estimated cost of improvement is $14,000

SENATE

WASHINGTON Feb 3—In the senate Evarts introduced a bill for the purchase of John Ericsson's Destroyer and ten enlarged steel vessels of the same type for defending the harbors of the United States (appropriating $112,000 and $2,000,000 for these purposes respectively)

A resolution offered last session by Ingalls, to discharge the committee on pensions from further consideration of the bill removing the limitation of application for arrears of pensions was taken up and Ingalls stated that his object was to have the bill brought before the senate for action. The resolution was agreed to, yeas 27 nays 26

The bill was placed on the calendar

The resolution heretofore offered providing that each day after the morning business the senate will proceed to the consideration of house bills on the calendar was adopted

A resolution heretofore offered by Plumb calling on the secretary of the interior for information as to whether there is any rule of the pension office whereby any applicant for a pension is denied a hearing by reason of being also a petitioner to congress was taken up and discussed. The discussion continued until 2 o'clock, when the resolution was laid aside, without action and the senate proceeded to consideration of the bill to prohibit members of congress from acting as attorneys for subsidized railroad companies

Evarts addressed the senate in opposition to the bill. He favored the amendment proposed to be offered as a substitute to the bill by the senator from Delaware. That substitute made it unlawful for a member of congress to accept employment as general counsel or attorney or to receive payment for service as such counsel or attorney from subsidized railroad companies, with a proviso that it shall not be construed to prevent members of congress from appearing as [illegible] in suits to which the United States is not a party. He argued that the proposed legislation was uncalled for. Rights of citizens were not to be invaded because [illegible] to criminality

[illegible] Evarts's speech [illegible] adjourned

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON Feb 3—In the house Oates of Alabama, on behalf of the committee on revision of laws called up the bill authorizing the appointment and prescribing the compensation of clerks to senators and representatives who are not chairmen of committees. After a debate Dibble of [illegible] moved to lay the bill on the table. Agreed to yeas 111 nays 105

The house then went into committee of the whole on the pleuro pneumonia bill the pending amendment being one offered by Cutcheon of Michigan, providing that experts and agents to be appointed in pursuance of this act shall be appointed under the civil service rules. Lost 13 to 86

Swinburne of New York offered an amendment striking out the provision for destruction of diseased animals and inserting in lieu thereof a provision that such animals shall be quarantined and destroyed if deemed necessary for scientific investigation by scientific experts and the experts shall provide such rules and regulations as they deem necessary to best prevent the spreading of the disease and promote a thorough investigation and understanding of its nature characteristics and consequences. Agreed to 97 to 73

Butterworth of Ohio, offered an amendment reducing from three quarters to one-half of the value of the animal the compensation which will be allowed owners of cattle for animals slaughtered under the provisions of this act. Agreed to 110 to 46

Without concluding consideration of the bill the committee rose and the house adjourned

THE SOUDAN DISASTER.

The Fighting was Between the Italians and their Abyssinian Allies.

ROME Feb 3—It transpires that the fighting at Saati near Massowah January 25 and 26 concerning which Signor Depretis made a statement in the chamber of deputies yesterday, was not between Italians acting in conjunction with the Abyssinians against the Arabs, but between Italians and Abyssinians. Newspapers this morning, commenting on the situation, urge calmness in dealing with the latter. They say it is no question of war with Abyssinia but only a question of defense of Massowah. The opposition press denounce Count de Robilant, foreign minister and Signor Ricotti, minister of war for the recent statements they made reassuring the public concerning the situation at Massowah

IN THE ITALIAN CHAMBER.

ROME Feb 3—The chamber of deputies discussed the bill submitted by the government for a credit of 5,000,000 francs for sending reinforcements to the Italian garrison at Massowah. Deputies Merssa and Costa, members of the extreme left opposed the policy of the government and urged the recall of the troops from the Soudan. Signor Spaventa, member of the right, moved to vote the credit without delay and inquire into the conduct of the ministers afterwards. The general discussion then closed and an excited debate on the clauses of the bill followed the extremists demanding that the ministry resign. The house [illegible] The ministry a confident [illegible] by a large majority

MORE ABOUT THE MASSACRE

PARIS Feb 3—The Republique Francaise published a dispatch from Suez which states that in the battles between the Abyssinians and the Italians near Massowah January 26 the Abyssinians captured all the guns possessed by the Italians. It also says that of 480 Italians in the fight not more than fifty escaped. The dispatch adds that the Italians evacuated all the advanced positions. The Abyssinians have already attacked and carried the first line of Italian entrenchments around Massowah. It is doubtful whether the Italians will be able to hold Massowah until the arrival of reinforcements

Pennoyer's Swamp Land Views Embodied in a Bill.

THE PROVISIONS OF THE MEASURE

The Port and Water Question—The Proposed Reapportionment Scheme—Detailed Proceedings of Both Houses—Etc

SALEM Feb 3—The most important proceeding in the house to-day was the introduction by McLean of a bill prepared by the board of land commissioners carrying out the suggestions respecting swamp land matters contained in Gov. Pennoyer's message of yesterday

Section 1 declares that all certificates of sale issued by the board of land commissioners for swamp and overflowed lands on which the 20 per centum of the purchase price was not paid prior to January 1[illegible] are void and of no force or effect whatever, and the commissioners are authorized and directed to cancel such certificates of sale

Section 2 declares that all swamp lands sold under the provisions of the act approved October 26 18[illegible] and which have not been reclaimed or paid for in accordance with that act are forfeited and the certificates of sale are declared void

It is provided that this shall not apply to actual settlers on tracts of 320 acres or less who have paid their 20 per centum and that such settlers may perfect title without reclamation by payment of the remaining 80 per centum before January 1 1889

Section [illegible] provides that upon surrender of any such void certificate or any certificate of sale or receipt given for payment on lands sold as swamp or overflowed lands but which are in fact dry, or if such certificates or receipts be lost or destroyed or are beyond the control of the purchaser or his successor then upon submission of the proof of such loss the board shall order the amount [illegible] paid thereon refunded

Section [illegible] levies a special tax of one mill on the dollar on all taxable property of the state, and the proceeds thereof shall be paid into the swamp land fund and shall be applied to the payment of outstanding warrants payable out of said fund and the warrants authorized by this act

Section [illegible] authorizes the board to cause suit to be instituted in the name of the state to set aside any deed issued by said board upon fraudulent representation and if necessity requires the board is authorized to employ attorneys to defend the interests of the state or to institute suits for any just cause

Section 6 declares that any legal applicant to purchase swamp or overflowed lands who had complied with the provisions of the act approved October 26 1870 including the payment of the 20 per cent of the purchase price prior to January 15, 18[illegible] shall, without reclamation upon payment of the balance of the purchase price be entitled to and shall receive a deed for the land provided that such payment shall be made prior to January 1 1889 and provided further that no deed shall issue to any one person for more than 640 acres

Section [illegible] relates merely to easement for roads and section 8 declares that all swamp or overflowed lands reverting to the state under the provisions of this act shall be sold, as provided in the act approved October 18, 1878 provided that actual settlers shall have the exclusive right to purchase lands occupied by them not exceeding 320 acres to any one person

Section [illegible] provides that any actual settler who shall have purchased prior to February 1 1887 from the original holder of any certificate which is by this act declared void or forfeited any of the lands mentioned in said act, shall upon making to said board satisfactory proof of such purchase and of settlement and improvement of such land, be entitled to receive the amount of money paid by such settler to such original holder, and such sum of money shall be deducted from the amount which is, by section 3 of this act directed to be repaid upon the surrender of such certificate provided that the repayment to such purchaser shall be made upon the same conditions as are provided in said section 3 and, provided further that no person shall receive such repayment for more than 640 acres of land

It is provided in section 10 that the act shall come into force upon its approval by the governor

Of course the swamp land ring, through corruption agents, will try to beat this measure, and no effort that cunning or money can prompt will be lacking. If the bill comes to a vote nothing will prevent its passage since the members would not dare to vote against it. The policy of the land ring no doubt will be to delay action and to keep the bill out of sight hoping to let it die on the calendar. I am of the opinion that this effort will fail, and that the bill will become a law

The special swamp land investigation committee held a session this evening. All the members were present and there was a full discussion of the information thus far supplied. It was the general opinion of members that the governor's message printed in yesterday's OREGONIAN strikes the swamp land fraud in its center. I am informed that within one week the committee will report to the house and that some very surprising revelations will be made in connection with the Quincy A. Brooks, Tallmadge Owens and other claims and that the shotgun applications will be recommended to be forfeited

THE WATER QUESTION

The Portland water bond bill which passed the senate several days ago is in [illegible] the house on its third reading [illegible] will probably come up to-morrow. The only member of the Multnomah delegation [illegible] in favor of [illegible] Summers who while disclaiming [illegible] opposition is preparing to load it with [illegible] amendment likely to kill it. He will move to [illegible] of the committee of fifteen with a commission [illegible] members to be elected by general vote. [illegible] Mr. Wilson who has [illegible] the house has received from [illegible] petition which is [illegible] and not yet read

[illegible] property owners [illegible] pray your honorable body to pass the bill [illegible] which said city is authorized to issue its bonds to the extent of $1,200,000 this being an increase of $[illegible] over the amount now [illegible] for the purpose of obtaining an [illegible] supply of pure wholesome water [illegible] an act to amend an act entitled an act to [illegible] an act to incorporate the city of Portland approved November [illegible] 18[illegible]. [illegible] that the passage of the same will be for the best, present and future interests both of the property of the city and its inhabitants because it will permit said city to [illegible] supplied with pure and [illegible] water without creating a liability which will have to be met by direct taxation, and in [illegible] pray his excellency to approve the same

REAPPORTIONMENT

The reapportionment bill was agreed upon by the [illegible] committee of republicans and was to have [illegible] submitted to both houses to-day but for some [illegible] that the [illegible] democrats will profit by it at least [illegible] their favor [illegible] provides that the ratio of representation shall be one senator for every 6000 of white population or fraction thereof exceeding one-half in each senatorial district, and one representative [illegible] population or fraction thereof over [illegible]

THE STATE AND THE OREGON [illegible]

The joint committee on commerce [illegible] are ready to make a report recalling [illegible] of the water power owners of Oregon City to sell the locks, and asking the state [illegible] or resign its option of buying [illegible] I am told that the committee will [illegible] the surrender of the option, and will recommend that the state buy the locks at [illegible] if they can be secured at reasonable prices [illegible] is made there should be a careful appraisal [illegible] the property. This, no doubt, will be done

In the house to-day, numerous petitions from Knights of Labor societies were presented expressing regret that the judiciary committee had reported against the passage of [illegible] bill No 79 to abolish the practice of [illegible] witnesses and urging that the bill be passed [illegible] of the commissioner's disapproval [illegible] by the chairman of the judiciary committee that the objection to the bill was partly upon constitutional grounds. It is expressly provided in the constitution that a person accused [illegible] shall have the opportunity to meet [illegible] face to face, and the proposition to substitute [illegible] statements for spoken evidence [illegible] of law. The committee had [illegible] post action

THE GOVERNOR AND THE [illegible]

The governor has little to say about the [illegible] bill. He makes no secret of his disapproval [illegible] does not say in positive terms [illegible] Whether he approves or vetoes [illegible] that he will give the legislature the full benefit of his opinion respecting it. He will certainly [illegible] the Portland water bill.

FISH LADDER INVESTIGATION

The house committee to investigate the fish ladder at the falls of the Willamette [illegible] that they had summoned as a witness [illegible] Baldwin the commissioner under [illegible] ion it was constructed, and that he had [illegible] notice of the summons. The house then adopted a resolution directing the sergeant-at-arms to arrest Mr. Baldwin and compel his attendance before the bar of the house. Later a dispatch was received from Baldwin, stating that he had been detained by sickness, and that he would come to Salem as soon as possible. This being satisfactory, the house at its evening session withdrew the order of arrest. Friends of Baldwin are very indignant over the action to-day, which, to [illegible] mildly, was very inconsiderate.

The Oregonian.

PORTLAND, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1887.

ANOTHER UNFOUNDED OBJECTION.

The Northern Pacific is coming to Oregon by way of Washington territory, the Southern Pacific is coming to Oregon by way of California, and the Union Pacific, that wants to come to Oregon by a shorter and more direct route than either, ought to be permitted to do so.

The argument that a lease of the O R & N to the Union Pacific would take the regulation of the former out of the jurisdiction of the state has been exploded That objection is no longer urged. But now it is declared that in case this lease is made the citizen of Oregon whose domestic animal may be killed by the road will not be able to enforce, through a state court, his claim for payment, and therefore that the lease ought not to be permitted.

This argument is quite as unfounded and absurd as the former one that the state could not control or regulate the operation of the road after its lease to a corporation outside the state The O. R. & N. company, after its lease to the Union Pacific, will not cease to be an Oregon corporation. Its liability as such to the laws of the state will be in no wise diminished by the lease. That the lessees of the property are not residents of the state will make no more difference than that its owners are not residents of the state. The law of the state requires railways to pay for animals killed, and they must pay and do pay, no matter where the owners of the railways reside. A corporation organized under the laws of Oregon is a person in Oregon, and who the lessee may be or where he may live cannot change the status of the corporation or the liability of its property within the state to the laws of the state Judgment for lawful claims would lie against this property and would be enforced upon it, after the lease the same as before it. The present owners of the O. R. & N property are non-residents, and they may now do every thing that non-resident lessees could do in the matter of appealing from the jurisdiction of the courts of the state to those of the United States. But the jurisdiction of the courts of the United States is limited by law to cases where the matter in dispute, exclusive of costs, exceeds $500, and this, if there were nothing else, would keep almost every suit for animals killed out of the courts of the United States. This fact, however, is not really pertinent. The primary and controlling fact is this, namely, that the corporation known as the O. R. & N company is a person under the laws of this state, and it will be dealt with by the laws and through the courts of this state, no matter where the owners or lessees of the property may reside.

But if members of the legislature are disposed to stick on this point they may put into the bill a proviso that will easily and entirely remove the objection. Let it be declared in the statute that any corporation granting a lease of its road shall still be held liable under all the laws of the state and to the judicial power of the state for its acts and doings, whether its road be operated by itself or by the employes of the lessee company, the same as if the lease had not been made. This would cover every contingency and remove every objection True enough, the authority of the state, ample without this proviso, would not be increased by it, but under such express statement no one could profess a doubt.

Another condition, one that might be of real value, may be suggested It would be well if the bill should provide that only connecting railroads, not parallel ones, should be leased This would prevent the use of the act in furtherance of combination of parallel lines.

Convinced as it is that the most important thing that could be done for the rapid development of Oregon, including the construction of branch lines throughout the eastern part of the state and the opening of a market for our fruit, lumber and other products towards the East would be the consummation of this lease of the O. R. & N. to the Union Pacific, THE OREGONIAN is earnest, and even urgent, in expressing its desire that the legislature shall enact this amendment to the incorporation law. To meet and remove the objection herein stated it will be easy to insert the proviso also stated herein, and the country will then be assured by the terms of the act itself that when any lease is made under it there will be no less liability to the laws and the courts of the state than existed before.

A CONTEST IN PROSPECT

The long struggle in the Indiana legislature over the succession to the U S senate has terminated in the election of David Turpie Turpie is a lawyer of ability and was commended to the affectionate regard of his fellow bourbons on the ground that he was an intense partisan of the South during the rebellion, or, in common parlance, was a copperhead." Indiana, a state which, under Gov Morton, sent nearly 200,000 soldiers into the armies of the Union, now sends a copperhead to the U S senate to occupy the seat in which Gen Harrison, a Union soldier and grandson of the hero of Tippecanoe, has sat for six years When the Indiana democracy found out that the republican candidate (Robertson) had been elected lieutenant-governor and would preside over the senate, they suddenly discovered that the attorney general had decided erroneously that the vacancy caused by the resignation of Lieut Gov Manson could be filled by election before 1888 The executive department was advised that it was competent to order an election to fill the vacancy "at the time and place of choosing members of the general assembly, while Turpie who has just been chosen senator, was of the opinion that the vacancy must continue until the next election If the democrats had elected their candidate for lieutenant-governor the question would never have been raised The original position of the republicans was that the proper body constitutional for the determination of the question of the right of the republican, who had been elected lieutenant-governor, to administer the duties of that office, was the general assembly, which alone was competent to nullify the action of the executive that had ordered the election The democrats ran to the courts and the democratic judges decided what they had no business to decide, that the executive who ordered the election for lieutenant-governor was wrongly advised by the attorney general Then the senate republicans threw away their advantage by agreeing to a compromise which deprived them of the vote of their lieutenant-governor These republican senators cared more about holding their own seats than they did about the re-election of Harrison. The majority in each house had adopted rules that gave them the power to throw out any member of the minority. The democratic leaders in the senate threatened to unseat all the republican senators unless the latter agreed to the compromise, and the republican senators then gave way and consented to the compromise, which was certain to elect Turpie as soon as the democratic-greenbacker, who voted with three labor republicans for a third candidate, was bribed or bulldozed into a return to his party camp.

Turpie goes to Washington with the fact against him that his majority was secured by the arbitrary unseating of a republican senator on an unproved charge of bribery and replacing him with his defeated democratic competitor Another fact that will damage his case will be that the republican lieutenant governor of the state, who by law should preside over the joint convention, was prevented by a democratic conspiracy from occupying his office and executing this duty. The republicans will meet in joint convention and elect Harrison and thus present a formal case for contest before the United States senate. Congressman Bynum was quoted early in the contest as saying that "in this event the republican senate will seat Harrison, although his commission will lack Gov Gray's signature, following the precedent in the South Carolina case, where Butler was seated on credentials from precisely such a body as the Indiana republicans can muster"

The contest in New Jersey in all probability, will also have to be settled by the senate. The democrats have in the legislature a majority of one over all on the joint ballot but this was obtained by seating one man whom the chief justice of the state declared unelected and another who owes his certificate to the fraudulent alteration of ballots after election. The senate, having a republican majority of three refuses to organize, and if it persists in its refusal the legislature cannot elect a successor to Senator Sewell. If the senate backs down a democrat will be elected, and in that case there would be a contest before the United States senate. If the New Jersey house unseats its tainted members the republicans would elect the senator, but this is unlikely.

PROFLIGACY AND ITS PARENTAGE

Unfortunately the whole consequences of the swamp land act and its ill advised interpretations have not been confined to seizure of the lands themselves A further consequence has been the birth of sundry jobs through which the money paid in on account of the lands has been utterly wasted Over and above the sums actually paid out on account of wagon roads that never were constructed, there remains a large amount of outstanding warrants drawn on the swamp land fund Gov Pennoyer gives in his special message on the subject a statement of these warrants and their amount, principal and interest—the whole amounting to $94,165 94 Nearly one-half of this whole amount is on account of The Dalles and Sandy wagon road, so-called This was a job without a redeeming feature No road exists there, and the object of the appropriation was not to make a road, but to get the money And the job is rendered worse still by the fact that the interest which the state now must pay considerably exceeds the principal. Profligate administration of the swamp land business has led to further profligacy in expenditure of the proceeds of the lands, so that not only has the money been squandered as it came in, but its coming in has been anticipated by appropriations upon various jobs, and warrants have been drawn therefor, upon which the interest now to be paid equals or exceeds the principal. Such management is disgraceful. It is, however, only the natural sequel to the swamp land act and its ill advised interpretation. After the act of 1878 the Thayer administration did a wrong thing, and the Moody administration followed the bad precedent. At length we have an administration that is unanimously and solidly right on this question. The whole profligate and dirty business ought now to be cleaned up, once for all. For years THE OREGONIAN has been sounding a lonely note on this subject, and now it is glad at last to find in power an administration that will make the thing felt which it has tried so long to make heard

A question may be asked about Judge Reuben P Boise. Isn't he and hasn't he for many years been quite too persistent and active as a lobbyist about the legislature for a man of his position and old time reputation? To say that this is unbecoming certainly is a mild enough word for it.

Let the Union Pacific into Oregon and it will build here the immense amount of rolling stock necessary for its thousands of miles of road Here are the materials for building this rolling stock, and here the great road will sustain shops that will employ an army of men

Among recent deaths of eminent foreigners is that of Sir Joseph Whitworth, inventor of the celebrated gun which bears his name.

FROM IDAHO.

BELLEVUE Idaho Jan 28

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

We left Doniphan a little after noon on the 24th inst on snow shoes as the roads were drifted full of snow and impassable for teams and being out of practice in this kind of traveling, our progress was rather slow We got into Hailey (twelve miles) a little after 5 o clock P M and arrived here the same evening

The day before leaving Doniphan we descended to the 100 foot level of the No 2 mine where a drift is being run eastwardly in the ledge and the ore is improving with every foot advanced At the shaft large bodies of sulphurets of iron were found, but at the face of the drift (about sixty feet,) the ore changed and became oxidized and is far richer in free gold than any ever before found in this mine The whole face of the drift is in this kind of ore and the superintendent informed us that they were going to sample enough to make a medium test at the mill, and expected it would assay $80 per ton.

To [illegible] amalgamating department of the [illegible] we have only to say that some ore from the [illegible] was tried in the mill and yielded [illegible] per ton in gold and assays of the ore went from $27 to $60 per ton. As soon as they can get the roads broken they intend to get in a good supply of coal and put the shaft down another hundred feet but unless the company put in different machinery they cannot work any of the ore from this shaft profitably in their mill

Business in Bellevue is pretty good although the weather is stormy the past few days and plenty of freight and coal is coming in by railroad from the East and teams are busy hauling ore to be shipped to Eastern smelters and taking back to the mines near here coal and supplies. Much ore and bullion goes to Salt Lake which city by the way, is becoming quite a mining center and depot of supplies The population of that city has increased the past year about 50 per cent., and was estimated on January 1 at over 27 000 For the week ending December 23 there was received in bullion and ore at Salt Lake the sum of $215 ,81 45 and over one third was lead and silver ores and bullion from the mines here on Wood river From all reports from the smelting towns east of here especially Denver Omaha and Pueblo the outlook for business is very satisfactory and they are preparing for an increased business in the future

Mrs A. S. Duniway has been lecturing to large houses here on Wood river but we did not have the pleasure of attending, but heard the lady well spoken of as a lecturer by all who heard her The legislature of the territory is now in session at Boise City and many of our leading citizens are absent attending matters there There is an effort being made to divide this county at present and in this place the majority in fact we might say nearly everybody is in favor of division as Alturas is one of the largest counties in the territory and it certainly works great hardship to many residents to have to travel so far to reach the county seat Another move is on foot to take the four northern counties of Idaho [illegible] and attach them to Washington [illegible] and W M Stewart the newly elected senator from Nevada has just pledged himself to work for attaching the southern part of Idaho to Nevada so it would seem as if Idaho was in great danger of being blotted out of existence Many here are in favor of both of these divisions while some oppose them The only advantage offered to annex to Nevada is on account of economy of government

Hailey shows signs of old prosperity and is at present the best mining town [illegible] The stock for a first class roller flouring mill has been subscribed and contracts let for the [illegible] for extensive waterworks with [illegible] pressure and as there is plenty of good farming lands near there capable of raising good crops of grain and fine water power and good [illegible] and has daily communication by the Short Line railroad with the outside world some idea may be formed of its advantages as a trading center

The snow is about sixteen inches deep here now and the weather stormy but large loads of coal and supplies are being hauled over the roads to the different mines and bringing back tons of ore to be shipped by rail G. A. T.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

The Woman Suffrage Law of Washington Unconstitutional.

CHIEF JUSTICE GREENE DISSENTS

Republican Officers in a Colorado County Driven Out by a Mob—Another Big Telephone Suit —A Day's Record

OLYMPIA Feb 3.—The woman suffrage act of Washington territory was declared unconstitutional by the supreme court to day The opinions were rendered by Langford and Turner Chief Justice Greene dissenting The ground of the decision was want of conformity to the organic act, the title being defective in not expressing the object of the bill. The opinion declares women ineligible to act as electors or jurors The case which brought the matter up was Harlan vs Territory Second district for gambling The decision has caused a decided sensation here

A REIGN OF ANARCHY

Republican Officers of a Colorado County Driven from Home and their Houses Burned

DENVER Feb 2—Pagosa Springs the county seat of Archuleta county is in a state of anarchy A mob has driven the county commissioners from the town burned several houses of Commissioner Scase and forced him to resign his office at the muzzle of a revolver A special from there says J B Martinez, J P Archuleta and Mr Scase republican county commissioners, were on January 3 unseated by the democratic sheriff named Height The act was perpetrated with political intent and the mob which followed the sheriff after having accomplished the act of intimidation, burned the house of Mr Scase at Pagosa Springs This last act was committed Monday, during the absence of Mr Scase in Denver

RACE PREJUDICE

Last November the above named commissioners were elected by republican votes At the same time a democrat named Height was elected sheriff There was great feeling at the polls but a preponderating Mexican vote assured Martinez Archuleta and Scase of their triumph over the attacks of their antagonists. They were Mexicans and this too added strength to the bitterness prevalent The feeling increased instead of diminishing as the time for their induction into office approached and on January 3, at the county seat the time for their official appearance, an armed mob of fifteen or twenty determined men led by Sheriff Height forced their way into the room where the commissioners were seated and demanded of them that they vacate their seats. The sheriff insisted on their resignations being made at once else there would be bloodshed The commissioners mistaking the temper of the mob, refused under the impression that the demonstration was nothing more than a bluster, but the mob, intent on their purpose, took forcible possession of the commissioners and with more threats locked them in a room declaring it to be their purpose to starve them into submission

At the time of the forcible entry Martinez left the room and escaped from the building A delegation overtook him and forcibly dragged him through the streets to the courthouse and locked him up with his companions

COMPELLED TO RESIGN

Finally at the expiration of five or six hours the mob permitted their prisoners to go but the concession seemed to be for a purpose As soon as the three commissioners separated the mob with the sheriff still at their head followed Commissioner Scase to his home Scase was proprietor of a hotel in Pagosa Springs and it was here he resided The mob surrounded the hotel, and taking Scase again in custody, he was dragged forth from the midst of his family and with a gun barrel at his head compelled to resign his office as commissioner The resignation so obtained was at once forwarded to Gov Adams and instructions sent with it that he appoint at once a democrat in place of Scase

Since that time the board has not met no laws have been enforced and a condition of things approaching anarchy has prevailed The commissioners have not been permitted to set foot in the county since the day they were warned at the peril of their lives, not to return In fact it was dangerous to remain in the vicinity, and so they started at once to Denver not only for protection, but to lay their grievances before their representatives in the legislature and the governor

The governor is doing all in his power to secure a peaceful settlement The matter was brought before the general assembly to day and a joint committee was appointed to investigate the affair at once.

THE EUROPEAN WAR CLOUD

A General Belief that France and Germany will Fight this Year

NEW YORK Feb —Tribune [illegible] The Paris correspondent of the Daily Telegraph [illegible] that the [illegible] of France with respect [illegible] is becoming so critical [illegible] [illegible] papers [illegible] because he [illegible] the [illegible] revenge [illegible] everybody in whatever station of life, craving so much is peace and Boulanger [illegible] using all his power to avert war with Germany I hear that the military party in Berlin are the real representatives of a coup being attempted by Boulanger But say the French, "If our war minister is feared it is because he is known to be the best administrator we ever have had since the republic was established and we cannot dismiss a man from his position because he has done his work better than his predecessors There is one way left of dispelling the clouds which have gathered so quickly on the horizon As Bismarck has asserted that he never will attack France it is the duty of France to make a similar declaration in strong form I am told on excellent authority that the question of doing so has been more than once mooted in cabinet council but M Goblet has always refused on the ground that it would be a bad precedent to reply to newspaper reports

ENGLAND AND RUSSIA.

NEW YORK Feb 3—A private London cablegram says that England's extensive war preparations are made more with a view to protecting India next spring than in the expectation of European hostilities The Afghanistan revolt is most formidable and will assume renewed vigor on the opening of spring Russia is closely watching events and has a large force of troops on the Afghan frontier Sarcastic allusion of the St Petersburg Gazette to Lord Salisbury's speech stating that England's foreign policy was pacific is regarded as an indication of trouble for England in India

ANOTHER BIG TELEPHONE SUIT

A Contest for the Right to Operate Long Distance Lines

PHILADELPHIA Feb 2 [illegible] long distance telephone wires between New York [illegible] [illegible] United States court by a bill in equity filed this afternoon by attorneys for the [illegible] construction company [illegible] Bell telephone syndicate and have organized a corporation which has recently opened offices in various [illegible] The prospectus issued by the defendant company says that the telephone exchanges in New York Brooklyn and adjacent cities is being equipped for a metallic circuit service in connection with these lines by which Philadelphia business men will be placed in direct communication with any of the subscribers to the telephone exchange in New York and surrounding villages and cities in New York New Jersey and Connecticut numbering in all over 1,800 stations

Plaintiffs claim that they bought the exclusive right under the patent to use and make metallic circuits throughout the United States for a term of seventeen years from February 1881 That they have expended large sums of money in perfecting the system but that defendants are violating their exclusive right It is claimed that rapid application of the long-distance telephone to modern business purposes renders the prospective value of the ownership of the metallic circuit to be contested in the courts second only to that of the telephone itself.

THE GREAT STRIKE AT NEW YORK

NEW YORK Feb 3—The air is full of rumors about negotiations looking to a termination of the big strike some of which are of Wall street origin and some are credited to the executive committee of the district assembly The former allege that the men will be at work again within twenty four hours The managers of the strike however assert with much emphasis that they are doing all in their power to extend it They are endeavoring to take in all towns on the coast between Maine and Florida. This only could be done by exerting great influence.

At Pythagorus hall the Knights' headquarters, the new idea of the strikers—that of refusing to pay rent—was the uppermost topic of discussion A Wheeling delegate, well informed as to the goings on in the council of the district assembly, said "I only know it is being talked up by the heads of all the assemblies, and many regard it as a trump card to be played. The idea is for the Knights in New York, Brooklyn and Jersey City to refuse to pay a cent of rent until the present strike has been settled in favor of the workingmen. It is purely an Irish idea, adopted from Parnell We are told there are at least 45 000 Knights in New York, Jersey City and Brooklyn We are already committed to it. If the plan were carried the courts would be so black with ejectment cases that some of them could not be reached for months"

THE LEGISLATURE.

Only Three Senators Vote Against the Lease Bills.

PENNOYER AND THE BRIDGE BILL

The Senate Passes the Grant's Pass Charter—The House Passes the Multnomah County Clerk Bill—Etc

SALEM, Feb 7—The measure now before the legislature authorizing the lease of the O R & N railway system is contained in two bills one amending the existing law relating to foreign corporations and the other amending the existing law relative to domestic corporations The first of these bills numbered 54 introduced by Simon and amended is as follows

Section 1 That section 1 of an act entitled An act to authorize foreign corporations to do business and exercise their corporate powers within the state of Oregon approved October [illegible] 18[illegible] be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows § 1 That any foreign corporation incorporated [illegible] for the purpose of constructing [illegible] operating [illegible] or for the [illegible] or with the power of acquiring and operating any railway macadamized road plank road canal or bridge or for the purpose of conducting water gas or other substance by means of pipes laid underground on compliance with the laws of this state for the regulation of foreign corporations transacting business therein have the same rights powers and privileges in the exercise of the rights of eminent domain collection of tolls and other prerogative franchises and in control of the management and disposition of their business franchises and property as are possessed by corporations organized for similar purposes under the general incorporation laws of this state Provided always that in case of the leasing of any line of railroad incorporated under the laws of this state by a foreign corporation such leasing shall be upon the fundamental conditions following and not otherwise

First That such foreign corporation shall enter into an agreement [illegible] with the state of Oregon [illegible] by its president [illegible] and attested by its secretary which agreement shall be filed with the secretary of state of the state of Oregon wherein and whereby said foreign corporation shall agree that all suits or actions [illegible] between said foreign corporation and a citizen or citizens of this state during the continuance of such lease shall be prosecuted or defended to final determination in courts constituted by the laws of this state excepting in cases where such action or suits have been commenced in or removed to the federal courts by a citizen of this state And upon failure to comply with the terms of such agreement by such foreign corporations such lease shall utterly determine and be rendered null and void at the option of the legislative assembly of the state of Oregon

Second—That the state of Oregon reserves to itself through its legislative assembly and in such manner as it shall determine the right power and authority to prescribe the rates to be charged for transportation of persons and property on such leased lines and also to prescribe and make such police regulations for the government of such roads as it may from time to time determine.

THE OTHER MEASURE.

The second of these bills relating to domestic corporations, with all amendments to date is as follows

Section 1 That section 5 of title 1 of chapter 7 of the miscellaneous laws of Oregon be and the same are hereby amended so as to read as follows

Sec 5 Upon making and filing articles of incorporation as herein provided the persons subscribing to the same as incorporators are authorized to carry into effect the objects specified in the articles, in the manner provided in this chapter, and they and their successors associates and assigns by the name assumed in such article, shall thereafter be deemed a body corporate, with power,

First—To sue and be sued.

Second—To contract and be contracted with.

Third—To have and use a corporate seal, and the same to alter at pleasure

Fourth—To purchase possess and dispose of such real and personal property as may be necessary and convenient to carry into effect the objects of the corporation and to take hold and possess and dispose of, all real and personal property donated to such corporation by the United States or by any state territory county city or other municipal corporation or by any person, firm association or private corporation, for the purpose of aiding in the objects of such corporation

Fifth—To appoint such subordinate officers and agents as the business of the corporation may require, and prescribe their duties and compensation

Sixth—To make by laws not inconsistent with any existing law for the sale of any portion of its stock for delinquent or unpaid assessments due thereon, which sale may be made without judgment or execution. Provided that no such sale shall be made without thirty days notice of the time and place of sale in some newspaper in circulation in the neighborhood of such company for the transfer of its stock for the management of its property and for general regulation of its affairs

Seventh—In case the object or purpose for which any such corporation is incorporated is in whole or in part to construct and operate a railroad, to lease any part of or all its road to any other company incorporated for the purpose of maintaining and operating a railroad and to lease, purchase, maintain and operate any part or all of any other railroad constructed by any other company upon such terms and conditions as may be agreed upon between said companies respectively any two or more railroad companies whose lines are connected may perfect any arrangement for their common benefit to assist and promote the object for which they were created provided that nothing in this act shall be construed to authorize the leasing of any railroad line to any company or corporation owning a road which forms a competing or parallel line to its railroad

These bills are twins neither being of effect without the other It has been the policy of those who are pushing the lease measure to keep these bills which embody it together According to agreement they came up in the senate this afternoon and passed Weatherford Cauthorn and Veatch alone voting no From the senate they went directly to the house, where they were read the first time according to rule, but a motion to suspend the rules and read a second time failed Later in the afternoon the motion was renewed as to bill 54 and carried Haley Paulsen and Thompson alone voting no and the effort to push bill No 55 through by the same method failed So the two are separated Sentiment is I think favorable to the lease and there is no serious doubt that both bills will go through though not probably till the latter part of the current week

MOTION TO RECONSIDER THE WATER BILL.

In the house this afternoon Thompson called up his motion to reconsider the vote by which the water bill was passed on Friday evening but it failed to carry so it goes to the governor Thompson's purpose in this matter is simply in keeping with his theory that no bonds national state or corporate should be exempt from taxation It is quite certain that Gov Pennoyer will return this bill without his approval, but Mr Wilson who has it in charge is confident that it will pass over his veto I do not regard this as certain. The objections which the governor will urge are of a character to make a profound impression upon members who are only too willing to be convinced against anything originating in or for the benefit of Portland

PENNOYER AND THE BRIDGE BILL

The bridge bill is still in the hands of the governor who to-day received from the United States engineers at Portland a copy of their report made to the secretary of war on the bridge matter and not yet made public It is to be expected that he will communicate with the legislature on this subject and I have not the slightest doubt that his communication will be in the form of a veto

THE GRANT'S PASS TROUBLE.

The Grant's Pass charter continues a subject of bitter contention. It came up this afternoon in the senate according to previous arrangement and passed by an almost unanimous vote Miller made a speech reported fully in the detailed report following in which he scored Riddle, Bourne et al severely These gentlemen declare that he misrepresented them shamelessly as to the amount of taxes paid Bourne says that his assessment is above $ 0 000 although the greater part of it is in the name of [illegible] J Smith to whom he gave a deed of trust for business convenience during his absence from the state last year To prove this statement he refers to the assessment for Josephine county for 188[illegible] on file in the office of the secretary of state He further declares Miller's statement to the effect that himself and others have a scheme to build private water works at Grant's Pass as absolutely false Riddle is equally emphatic He charges Miller with double dealing falsehood and fraud and says that his interest is solely mercenary and selfish He also charges President Carson who is Miller's business partner with having suppressed a remonstrance against a bill forwarded last Wednesday by telegraph and signed by about fifty citizens of the town The bill had not reached the house before adjournment to-night and will come up for the first reading directly after roll call to-morrow morning It is hinted to-night that when it comes up there will be serious disclosures on the floor of the house as to the methods by which the fight has been carried on

NOTES

The reapportionment bill as prepared by the joint committee and reported in this correspondence last week was amended in the senate to-day by taking one representative from Multnomah and giving it to Douglas The bill was then made a special order for Thursday at 2 o'clock

Harrington's bill to abolish the office of county clerk in Multnomah county and to create instead the offices of county recorder clerk of the circuit court and clerk of the county court, passed house the this evening by an almost unanimous vote and will no doubt pass the senate The bill makes no change in fees which will remain the same as now for the same service

I am told to-night that Roberts of Coos received a dispatch to-day from Senator Mitchell congratulating him upon his "vindication over the dastardly OREGONIAN crew," This is rich indeed

BILLS IN THE INTEREST OF STOCKMEN

S B No 91 Barin to prevent the spread of contagious diseases among animals, and for the appointment of a state veterinary surgeon at a salary of $1000 per annum, and two commissioners on the same work Barin explained that contagious cattle diseases in the East had killed off many cattle and the infection might make its appearance here any day An ounce of prevention was worth the usual pound of cure

Veatch objected seriously to a sick cow horse and cat doctor at the expense of the state. They might as well start in now and levy a ten-mill tax to pay him He might be located in Portland and there might be sick sheep in Eastern Oregon that he would be called upon to attend to Veatch admitted that he was skeptical on the subject of doctors anyhow

Bare spoke of the importance of quarantine regulations among 250 cattle and the great attention to such law in the East One herd of diseased cattle imported here and turned loose among our stock might wipe out the whole stock industry in a short time The bill was in the interest of the agricultural classes, and should pass

The bill was variously debated on by Chandler Cauthorne Shupe, Wager, Coleman, Cartwright, and Chamberlin It was claimed that the bill was too voluminous and would necessitate a band of veterinary surgeons to run all over the state The bill is very lengthy, and provides for so many regulations that each county men could not agree so it was finally referred to a special committee consisting of Coleman, Barin and Rinehart.

S B 53 by Cartwright—For an inspector of stock in each county, to be appointed by the county court. The duties of the inspector are to examine live stock for contagious disease and prevent a spread of the same The salaries of the inspectors range from $25 to $500 per year, according to location The bill is amendatory to the present law, which relates principally to sheep, and mainly affects Eastern Oregon The bill passed Emmett Shupe Watts and Weatherford voted no

PASSAGE OF THE GRANT'S PASS BILL.

No 137 same as H B 63—Incorporating Grant's Pass Miller said it was an insignificant subject, but unfortunately had created a great deal of commotion The bill was prepared by citizens of Grant's Pass who at a public meeting asked for incorporation by a vote of 51 to 11 A charter was prepared by a representative committee There was a petition for the adoption of the charter signed by 107 persons and a remonstrance of 54 persons the names of whom were mostly obtained by misrepresentation Omitting those so obtained would leave but 39 names on the remonstrance The charter had been before the committees of both houses and had been formally reported upon There was some power behind this It was strange that the legislature should so oppose this when the people of Grant's Pass petitioned for it The opposition had even gone so far as to publish articles in certain newspapers against the charter for which he understood the editors were well paid and there was also great interest manifested in the lobby against this measure Miller finished by criticising the opponents of the measure showing that they were opposing it on account of the presumed confiscation of property. Jonathan Bourne paid a 5-mill tax on $2000 worth of property Sol Abrams on $6000, and Geo W Riddle on $310. The total tax paid by all these opponents amounted to only $27 In Grant's Pass they had a soil similar to that of Ashland In Ashland they had a stream of water which was distributed all over town among the people and was the cause of the productiveness of that place Without it the place would be in a large measure barren and the people of Ashland would not do without this stream for half a million of dollars In Grant's Pass a ditch was proposed for use by the people The object of the men who were opposing the charter was not to prevent paying this $27 taxes but to prevent the putting in of a ditch by the people so they could put one in as a private enterprise This the people didn't want but did want water and water free as air Senators of outside sections should not oppose this

Cartwright asked leave to file a petition in relation to the measure The president decided that the bill was on its final passage that the introduction of the petition was out of order and declined to allow its reading. The bill passed Veatch voting no

S B No 86 by Simon—Increasing the salaries of supreme court judges to $3500 a year Simon after stating that the present salary of $2000 a year was wholly inadequate, read letters from S F Chadwick Judge Deady Judge Ifim George H Williams Jas K Kelly and Judge Shattuck that according to their opinion the bill to increase the salaries of the supreme judges was constitutional as while the constitution placed the salaries of the supreme judges at $2000 a year it did not provide that the salary be not increased

Veatch strenuously opposed the bill on the ground of its unconstitutionality Pending discussion the senate adjourned

CHICAGO Feb 7—Visible supply of wheat in the United States and Canada east of the Rocky Mountains 61 7 0 000 bushels a decrease of [illegible] 000 bushels during past week

The London correspondent of the Minneapolis Miller writing under date of January 12 expresses surprise at the materially increased deliveries of home grown wheat and the result of flour stock taking As his letter referred to is well worth reading, its most important parts are extracted There has been decidedly more quietness in the wheat and flour trade this week first because the visible supply will persist in rising each week and secondly because the stocks in the United Kingdom prove to be much larger than everybody anticipated As a matter of fact our stocks of wheat and flour in first hands were no less than 11 600 000 bushels instead of 10 000 000 as I expected in my last letter to you What has misled me is the farmers deliveries of home grown wheat the total of which in the 18 principal towns is supposed to represent one third of the whole but must be less than that amount The result at any rate is that we are not so badly off as was thought. In fact the revelation is sufficient I imagine to check any further rise for the next few weeks although hardly powerful enough to cause the recent advance to be lost for there can be no manner of doubt that in the last two months of 1887 stocks were drawn upon to the extent of [illegible] 000 bushels Wheat stocks are 1 [illegible] qrs against [illegible] qrs one year ago The reduction during the year has been very substantial but when we turn to flour we find that the total stock in fourteen principal ports is 8[illegible] sacks against [illegible] sacks last year This 88[illegible] sacks of flour represents [illegible] 000 qrs wheat so that the total of wheat and flour is [illegible] qrs against 3 [illegible] qrs at the end of 1886 With regard to the outlook for the next four months it is evident that we shall see a further large reduction in our stocks In fact it is estimated that from January 1 to April 30 our supplies will be 300 000 qrs below our requirements in which case we shall see our stocks reduced by May 1 to about 1 600 000 qrs Outside of the stock [illegible] then there is no change in the outlook Australia has not yet begun to ship wheat for Europe and India is not able to spare more than 600 000 bushels per week while South Russia is sending all her wheat to the Mediterranean This latter fact is one which will have a considerable influence on values Italy and Greece are both important importers of wheat now although three or four years ago Italy was an exporter to France of a fair quantity of what is known as Richelles wheat. It is worth noting that of 173 ships laden with wheat which have passed the Dardanelles not more than 24 have come to the United Kingdom the remainder going to Mediterranean and continental ports Altogether while I consider the position warrants the rise already obtained I think that the large stocks in America and the unexpectedly large quantity in store in the United Kingdom will in the present temper of the trade, check any further advance for some time.

For the benefit of those who like myself have not only suffered themselves but having large families always have one or more suffering with colds, coughs or sore throats I most willingly and cheerfully recommend the Red Star Cough Cure No family should—at this time of year particularly—be without it for I have tried nothing in many years experience which so promptly cures and gives relief in the cases mentioned which are so common, and which if not attended to at once often lead to more serious complaints My family is large and we are never without your Cough Cure and its efficacy in the past makes me feel that I owe a duty to mankind to inform them through you of the benefits we have derived from it without any of the unpleasant effects experienced from other cough medicines

BLACK WOLF,

Or Black Leprosy is a disease which is considered incurable but it has yielded to the curative properties of SWIFT'S SPECIFIC—now known all over the world as S S S Mrs Bailey of West Somerville, Mass. near Boston was attacked several years ago with this hideous black eruption, and was treated by the best medical talent, who could only say that the disease was a species of and consequently incurable It is impossible to describe her sufferings Her body from the crown of her head to the soles of her feet was a mass of decay, masses of flesh rotting off and leaving great cavities. Her fingers festered and three or four nails dropped off at one time Her limbs contracted by the fearful ulceration, and for several years she did not leave her bed Her weight was reduced from 123 to 60 lbs Perhaps some faint idea of her condition can be gleaned from the fact that three pounds of Cosmoline or ointment were used per week in dressing her sores Finally the physicians acknowledged their defeat by this Black Wolf, and commended the sufferer to her all wise Creator

Her husband hearing wonderful reports of the use of SWIFT'S SPECIFIC (S S S) prevailed on her to try it as a last resort She began its use under protest but soon found that her system was being relieved of the poison as the sores assumed a red and healthy color as though the blood was becoming pure and active Mrs Bailey continued the S S S until last February every sore was healed, she discarded chair and crutches and was for the first time in twelve years a well woman Her husband, Mr C A Bailey is in business at 17½ Blackstone Street Boston and will take pleasure in giving the details of this wonderful cure Send to us for Treatise on Blood and Skin Diseases, mailed free

A SCHOOL FUND ITEM.

MARION COUNTY Feb 2

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

One of the retiring state officers referred to the fact that $125 000 of the irreducible school fund known as the escheat fund was lying idle, that ought to be at interest I have not noticed any effort of our legislators to authorize the state treasurer to loan this money as it was suggested should be done If I am not mistaken, some former legislature authorized some private person to loan this money which it seems he has failed to do I have been informed that the party would loan money for private parties, on land that he deemed was not good security for the same amount of school money

The state treasurer should have authority to loan this money at 8 per cent and loan money to the amount of two fifths of the appraised value of the land The amount of money named at 8 per cent. interest would bring $10 000 into the school fund annually

I hope the legislature will act in the matter I wish too they would increase the amount of tax to be raised for school purposes from four to six mills on the dollar The faster we advance towards free schools in this state the better

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

DEATH OF A PIONEER.—Homan M Humphrey died at his residence three miles west of this city, at 5 o'clock yesterday morning, aged 67 years and two months. Mr. Humphrey was born in Sheldon, Wyoming county, New York. In 1839 he was married to Miss Lydia Case Snow, and immediately after removed to Des Moines county, in the then territory of Iowa. He resided in Iowa, with the exception of one year, up to the spring of 1852, when he came to Oregon, and in October of that year settled on a donation claim three miles west of this city, where he has resided ever since, with the exception of two years spent in Eastern Washington He leaves a wife and five children, the eldest of whom is W J Humphrey, who has been a compositor on this paper most of the time for the past twenty-seven years. The others are Mrs. I H Grove, Mrs Judge Briscoe, of Oysterville, W T, Dr. T C Humphrey, of La Camas, and Mrs D M C Gault. One daughter, Mrs Henry Denlinger died a few years since. Mr Humphrey is descended from Puritan stock, was one of the first members of the Congregational church in this city, and was always firm and unflinching in his religious convictions He was very energetic and enterprising, and accumulated considerable property some years ago, but met with reverses in 18[illegible] At the time of his death he was possessed of a fair competence He will be remembered by many of the old settlers of this city, and has always borne a good reputation for uprightness and honesty

SUIT OVER A TOWN SITE.—O N Denny, through his agent, Van B DeLashmutt, yesterday commenced suit in the U S circuit court against J C Dodson to obtain possession of a number of lots in the town of Arlington, Gilliam county This is the renewal of a suit for possession of the town site of Arlington, and affects the whole land grant of the Northern Pacific from Wallula to this city. The first suit, begun some time since, was dismissed by plaintiff, as it was found that the government had not been paid for surveying the land involved The money has since been tendered and placed in court, where the government can get it at any time This point having been attended to, suit has been again commenced Mr Denny bought the land from the Northern Pacific. Dodson claims that he settled on it before the railroad company had any title to it, and the company claims that the grant of the land to them formed a sufficient title. There is another point involved, which is whether the railroad company, whose line runs across Washington territory, can cross over to the state of Oregon to take land in their grant The grant covers only twenty miles on each side of a line in a state The land on which Arlington stands comes within this limit.

MR SPRIGGS' LECTURE.—The second lecture of the social science course was delivered at the Unitarian church last Wednesday evening by Mr J W Spriggs, of Salem, on the subject of "Laws of Marriage and Divorce." The speaker opened his lecture by a review of the marriage customs in ancient times, notably among the Greeks, Romans, Jews and ancient Germans. Then briefly sketching the influence of Christianity upon the institution of marriage and the effect of monasticism upon it, he passed from the historic to the ethical view of his subject, and made an earnest appeal for the cultivation of a sentiment in society and the home that should lead people to base marriage upon sobriety of judgment and deep spiritual affection The lecture was preceded by a vocal solo, sung sweetly by Miss Lena Morgan, with piano accompaniment by Mr F B Lowe The next lecture will be Wednesday evening, February 9, by Mrs. Henrietta R. Eliot subject, "Men s Rights"

IMMUNITY FROM GARNISHEE.—The life of a sailor is one of hardship and danger, but there are some pleasant features connected with a life on the ocean wave or raging canal. For instance, the wages of a deckhand on the State of California or the Twins, or the P W W can not be garnisheed A justice of the peace from Astoria was in town yesterday seeking for information on this point. A party residing in this city sued a man employed on a tug boat at Astoria, and attempted to have his wages garnisheed But the tug boat man claimed his privilege, and the justice, after due inquiry, found out that the sailor was right. Just how that bill is to be collected is the conundrum which several are trying to solve.

TO BE COURT MARTIALED.—A party of soldiers of Company B, Fourth regiment, U S infantry, stationed at Spokane Falls arrived here yesterday There were two prisoners, McMahon and Caveney, and twelve guards and witnesses, in charge of Sergt. Roper, on their way to Vancouver, where the prisoners are to be tried before a general court-martial. Capt. Quinn, of Company B, who is a member of the court, accompanies the party McMahon is charged with mutiny and sedition Caveney is an old man, who has been for many years in the service, and the charge against him is not of a serious character The men are rather a fine-looking set of fellows and were well provided with fur caps and gloves and other protections from the cold.

RELIEF AFFORDED.—A notice in THE OREGONIAN calling attention to distress in the family of a German named Buzer, corner of Sixth and College, was sufficient to bring a month's supply of wood and provisions and considerable clothing, which at this time was most acceptable The family are deeply grateful to every donor and particularly to Mrs. H Weinhardt, Mrs W H. Walker, Dr Nichols, W S Ladd and the Odd Fellows association Rev Mr Schlenk, who made the appeal desires to add his thanks to the donors One of the children is still very sick. The floor of the house is loosely laid and the wind whistled up the cracks into the sick child's room On this account a few bits of old carpet would be much needed charity

COULD NOT AGREE.—At 11 o clock yesterday morning the jury in the case of Edward Clayton, the alleged burglar, being unable to agree, were discharged by Judge Stearns They had been in the jury room thirty six hours and during the entire time stood substantially six and six, although at any time during the deliberations there were two jurors on the side of acquittal who would have changed to conviction provided the other four would follow suit The names of the twelve jurors are I W Russell, foreman Alexander Vance, J B Humphrey Cyrus Buckman, Wm B[illegible]n John W Wile[illegible] Peter Saltzmar Johnson Cleveland, C H Welch I N Reicher, M Dougherty and F J Sprague

HALF PILOTAGE CLAIMED.—The case of Gunderson against the Alcalde was argued and submitted in the U S circuit court yesterday Gunderson is a pilot residing in Astoria, working under a Washington territory branch He offered his services to the Alcalde, but was not taken on board The Alcalde being in the coastwise trade is not required by the law of Oregon to take a pilot on board By the law of Washington territory only coasting vessels under 100 tons can refuse a pilot The Alcalde being over 100 tons burden Gunderson, by the territorial law, claims half the pilotage fees, and the vessel being at Astoria he brings suit in this court here to recover the amount

THE WEATHER.—There was a light fall of snow in the Inland Empire yesterday about two inches having been added to the four inches on the ground This will be ample protection for winter wheat At 5 o'clock last night the mercury stood as follows Walla Walla , Umatilla 4, Pendleton 4, Union 4, The Dalles 18, Bonneville 9 The weather was calm except at Bonneville, where a strong down-stream wind was blowing In this city the weather was bright cold and still until dark, when an east wind sprung up and continued for a few hours, when it died down The temperature at 5 o'clock A. M was 10, at 2 P M 16, and at 8 P M 11

UNPLEASANT RELIC In a down town gun store window is displayed a stiletto taken from the dead body of "Three Fingered Jack," alias Manuel Garcia, a noted California desperado, by Capt Harry Love The handle is of silver and the sheath has heavy chased silver mountings. The wicked looking blade is channeled down each side, and has a number of perforations through the center line It is said to be poisoned, and also that the present owner has had it ground and burnished to get the poison out of the steel, but this is probably a fiction

MIDDLE RIVER CLOSED.—On account of ice, the Oregon Railway & Navigation company have withdrawn their boat from the route between The Dalles and the Upper Cascades, and it will be off until further notice The Bonita will leave for the Cascades as usual this morning, with good chances of getting through If the present weather continues the chances are she will not be able to get through to-morrow

PROPER CLASSIFICATION The Clipper almanac for 1887, with its valuable record of outdoor sports is received. The compiler has a good idea of the eternal fitness of things He puts under the head of "ring and pit," all cock fights, dog fights and prize fights, without classification the chronological order only [illegible]

[illegible]

BETTER OYSTERS.—Those who have eaten the little native oyster of the Northwest coast in the last few weeks have, no doubt, noticed a marked improvement in the size and quality. They are now fat and juicy, and as finely flavored as fancy Eastern oysters fresh from the water They are from Olympia. A well known oyster dealer here accounts for the improved size and flavor from the fact that the beds at Olympia are being properly cultivated

EMMA ABBOTT IN "FAUST"

Notwithstanding the unusual severity of the weather last night the largest paying audience the New Market theater has ever held assembled to hear the Emma Abbott company in Gounod s immortal opera Faust. In anticipation it was the night of the week for the musically inclined and to judges of harmony this exquisite work is always a prime favorite It contains such a great variety of themes, the heroic as well as the sensuous and the grandly majestic, and tells its sad story by the very power of musical expression alone In this opera many of the great prima donnas of the world have achieved their fame notably Christine Nilsson and Pauline Lucca and a Faust night is always a gala one in an operatic season

Of Miss Abbott s Marguerite there can be but one opinion Though her audience was warmly and exceedingly kindly disposed there was a shade of disappointment perceptible throughout the house when she had finished the Jewel song as though something was lacking It was not [illegible] with the brilliancy of execution which is demanded nor was there present the volume of voice necessary to produce the desired effect The King of Thule was much better done and her singing in the duet closing the act went far to redeem her efforts In her dramatic work in this and the last act she was far more effective than in her vocalization It is a great undertaking for any singer to render an exacting role in grand opera six or seven times a week and hence it is not surprising if an artist who does this sometimes falls short of perfect excellence

Mr Wm Broderick as Mephistopheles made the hit of the evening This is the first opportunity that has occurred of hearing this artist in a role worthy of his superb basso voice and right royally did he respond to the demands of the part Throughout his singing was in splendid style but his rendering of the Calf of Gold and the serenade were exceptionally fine Barring a little stiffness in his acting he interpreted the role in good dramatic form

Senor Michelena s Faust was not quite up to expectation though he sang the score generally in a smooth correct manner He was not the ardent passionate student wooing the gentle maiden with fervor that nothing could ornament a fervor that breathed with every note and spoke with every glance His best work was in the duet closing the third act

Miss Annandale as Siebel looked and acted well and sang the Parlate d Amor in such a manner as to earn an encore

Mr Pruette s Valentine was well sung particularly the cavatina in the second and his denunciation of Marguerite in the fourth act though in this latter he was somewhat too forcible for a man struggling with his death wound

Miss Bertha Fricke as Martha sang well in the quartette in the third act which by the way was a beautiful piece of work all through which the voices of Misses Abbott and Fricke and Messrs Broderick and Michelena blended most exquisitely The concerted music generally was exceedingly well sung, especially the soldiers chorus in the fourth act which was redemanded The finale to the second act was also finely rendered The orchestra under the direction of Sig. Tomasi was well handled and did its work finely

A great and highly satisfactory feature of this operatic season is the absence of long waits between acts and the perfect precision that marks every production

To night, Lucretia Borgia to morrow afternoon The Carnival of Venice to morrow night and farewell performance Linda

JOHN W BRAZEE

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

I have been waiting in the hope that some more capable pen than mine would contribute to your paper a notice of Mr Brazee as he has been prominently connected with important business interests in Oregon and Washington for nearly thirty years past and has borne a reputation which is worthy of note in the prominent records of the country

I desire simply to mention such part of his work as has come under my own observation in the hope that those who take an interest in the history of our young state may obtain more detailed information of his whole life and history

His first business in Oregon was the construction and operation of the portage railroad of Ruckel & Olmstead at the Cascades and by his untiring zeal energy skill and faithfulness Mr Brazee contributed more than any other man to the success of Ruckel & Olmstead in their railroad operations. Exposed in all kinds of weather up early and late in this work he contracted the severe rheumatic affections which finally caused his death

When the property of Ruckel & Olmstead passed into the Oregon Navigation company s hands Mr Brazee was appointed civil engineer and superintendent of construction for that company which position he held until that company was succeeded by the Oregon Railway & Navigation company

In all his work for the Oregon Steam Navigation company covering a period of nearly twenty years Mr Brazee displayed the utmost skill and good judgment and not a single serious accident occurred on any work under his supervision

Mr Brazee was an uncommon man Coming to the Pacific coast in 1848 living in the mines in California for ten years and located among rough people for twenty five years upon this coast as an unmarried man he kept himself totally free from the vices of the coast In over twenty years intimate acquaintance with him I do not remember hearing him use an oath. He was from principle a total abstainer from intoxicating drinks Pure in speech and habits quiet and unobtrusive yet self possessed well informed in all practical matters he was to be thoroughly depended upon in any business he undertook

He was not a church goer but his religious principles were a part of the character of the man and to be temperate patient prudent peace loving kind and honest to live up to the golden rule of "doing as he would be done by"—this was his religion

The last few years of his life were blessed by the loving companionship of wife and children, and no more loving and devoted husband and father ever lived This was the fruition of his life and to his latest breath he was the same pure spirit patient under extreme suffering wishing to give no trouble ready to sacrifice all for those he loved

In his last conscious moments he repeated the Lord s prayer and with the words "I am safe" [illegible] he passed away I W

GRAND RONDE AS A HEALTH RESORT

LA GRANDE Or [illegible]

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

An article in a recent issue of THE OREGONIAN speaks of the healthful climate of Eastern Oregon and I would say from personal knowledge that there could scarcely be found a finer health resort than the Grand Ronde valley If in summer weary Portlanders instead of going to the coast Southern California or Alaska would come to this valley and camp out on the banks of our lovely river within a stone s throw of the railroad town of La Grande which is also the end of a division and has daily mail from Portland and the East they would return home in the autumn healthy and happy and full of the free breezy buoyant life of Eastern Oregon. The men would find plenty of fine trout fishing and the women magnificent mountain and valley roads over which to dash on the back of a spirited horse, not fashionable lady like "city" driving but a good wild gallop at 4 o clock in the morning to the top of a hill to see Grand Ronde s glorious panoramic sunrise as the writer—once a worn, weary Portland girl who had not enough vitality and strength to mount a horse —does every summer morning to return with glowing cheeks and an appetite like a Colorado cowboy

Then within an easy drive are the famous hot springs where one can go daily and take a healthful bath for 25 cents.

If you do not believe Grand Ronde valley is a health resort come and see our aged men and women our few doctors and drug stores and—last but not least our tiny tiny graveyard

THE EAST SIDE.

The Assessment Matter—Down the River—Death of an Aged Lady—Brief Mention

There has been a great deal of comment in regard to the two and a half mills increase in the city tax as stipulated in the amendments to the charter A great many have already paid their taxes and hold their receipts therefor and these are now asking whether they can be made to pay the additional levy of two and one half mills Again there are some who have not yet paid their taxes With these comes the question Can they be made to pay the additional tax Both law and reason suggest that when the charter as amended goes into effect the assessment as provided for in the amended charter be made for the present year To attempt to make a second assessment on the past year would smack too much of the ex post facto law and would no doubt entail litigation and ultimate failure

DOWN THE RIVER

Wednesday evening an accident happened to the steamer James P Stephens which takes the place of the large boat at the Stark street ferry at night The Stephens left the East side of the river at about 11 o clock and when near the middle of the river some portion of the machinery gave way and the boat drifted helplessly down the swift current The whistle called only for help but no one came until the boat had drifted to a point nearly opposite the Albina flour mills Here the steamer New York came to the rescue of the disabled steamer and she was towed back to the East Portland side There were on board the Stephens quite a party of ladies and gentlemen who had been in attendance at the New Market theatre As they sailed down they made the most of the matter and enjoyed the excursion The whole affair occupied about two hours

From a Roseburg paper it is ascertained that Mr T H Gallagher yard foreman at East Portland was married in Oakland to Mrs E J Sutherland a few days ago He contemplates taking up his residence permanently at Oakland

It is thought that there will be no change in the administration of the state insane asylum Dr S E Josephi formerly of this city, has given general satisfaction and it is not at all likely there will be any change made as far as he is concerned

It would be a good idea for East Side patrons of THE OREGONIAN to have mail boxes put in front of their houses By doing so they will get their papers With so much snow and rain it is no wonder the papers get lost. Try the box system

James H Fink living in Hanson's addition has been in the Yakima country in Washington territory for some time, where he went for the purpose of engaging in bridging Soon after arriving there he was injured while handling railroad iron and while there he was unable to do any work He returned home Wednesday evening

There have been two worthless horses wandering about the city in a half starved condition No one knows to whom these animals belong It takes about $12 to sell a horse by the city authorities and as these horses are not worth that sum the marshal does not feel disposed to stand the expense out of his own pocket. If any one knows to whom they belong the marshal would like them to inform him It is stated that some provision will be made at the next meeting of the city council for the disposition of worthless stray animals

PORTLAND Feb

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

In an editorial paragraph this morning you censure the city council for passing a resolution to send paid delegates to the legislature to lobby in the interest of the amendments to the city charter You say

The charter of the city of Portland was ordained for specific purposes. We are not aware that one of those purposes was the levying of taxes and the expenditure of the money in lobbying schemes through the legislature The treasurer of the city ought to refuse to pay a dollar on any warrant drawn for such a purpose

It is not surprising that the council should have taken this action in view of the example set them by the water committee The council is supposed [illegible] and hair of the people the water committee is on altogether [illegible] higher plane and is in no way accountable to the people They take no oath of office give no official bond and hold office for ten years and select their own successors and the whole spirit of the legislative enactment creating the committee is that they are supernatural beings and can commit no mistakes Still they have set the example to the council by paying an eminent jurist $250 for drafting the original bill as well as large sums of money for canvassers to the petition to authorize the issue of $[illegible]0 000 additional water bonds and probably other sums to lobby both the original bill and the amendment through the legislature, all of which is paid out of the people s money The city council are unfortunate, so far that their actions are subject to public criticism but the star chamber character of the water committee exempts them from exposing to public gaze only so much of its proceedings as they see fit to make public Mr Corbett in his letter this morning says "Since the names to the remonstrance before the legislature have been published perhaps I would be well to publish the [illegible]000 or more names who signed the Bull Run petition"

Should he conclude to have this done I trust he will also give us the item of expenditure of the people s money to procure those names The argument used in the barrooms and general loafing places to secure names to the petition was that it would put money in circulation etc hence the [illegible] It is only [illegible]

But [illegible] or W[illegible] water [illegible] If [illegible] property [illegible] reason [illegible] how [illegible] works [illegible] under private management [illegible] how many [illegible] can be dispensed with [illegible] how many [illegible] certain [illegible] the water [illegible] shall have made [illegible] the Bull Run scheme which now accounts for their extreme [illegible] to keep water rates up to present figures When the gods live die young and since there are no [illegible] chickens [illegible] the water committee I take it that they are only human and hence the usual safeguards should be thrown around them and their successors in the management of the people s money [illegible] of a committee of fifteen it would be singular indeed if the more eager ones to profit by their opportunities should not be the most active and hence the necessity to shorten their term of office to make them elective by popular vote and require their actions to be subject to public scrutiny and criticism

These gentlemen on the committee who are anxiously [illegible] their threats and threatening to keep up rates until [illegible] they have enough surplus to bring in Bull Run would hardly care to go before the people asking their suffrage with those declarations fresh from their lips

VAN B DELASHMUTT

AN OLD FASHIONED VIEW OF THE USURY LAW

[illegible] Feb [illegible] 1887

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

My attention has been called to an article appearing in the columns of THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN of the 28th ult over the signature of "Borrower" written at Prineville under date of January 19 It appears clearly to my mind in attempting to digest that article that "Borrower s" true name is "Lender" Writers often attach fictitious signatures to their articles and this is beyond a doubt such an instance He claims that a citizen of Oregon (Sylvester Pennoyer being governor) has a right to make any contract not in violation of moral laws and that the constitution of Oregon guarantees that right to every citizen Now the constitution may guarantee such but I must confess that its language in regard thereto is a little obscure Suppose however that such is the case that is no excuse for the doctrine enunciated by "Borrower," nor for his morbid ideas of moral law He makes no distinction between conscionable and unconscionable equitable and extortionate contracts It is in accordance with American ideas with the fundamental principles upon which our government is builded and the principles and doctrines promulgated by the founders of the American colonies that just and wholesome laws should be enacted to relieve the oppression of the poor and such as will tend to the prosperity and happiness of the people The usury law is the poor man s law It was enacted for his benefit It says to the moneyed class "Your sordid appetites shall not be quelled by extortionate contracts [illegible] propensities our [illegible] Borrower says But the legislature steps [illegible] and says to a citizen with regard to borrowing [illegible] You are not capable of managing your own affairs; you are idiots, imbeciles, etc" Here "Borrower" draws a wrong inference, the legislature says: "You lenders are a favored class and few in number; you make your princely fortunes by preying upon the hard earnings of the poor, whom you oppress when [illegible] or distressing circumstances prevent them from meeting [illegible] fulfilling their contracts, with you you know people must have your money let your rate of interest be what it may you combine together and your maxim is not the better the security the lower the rate but it is the greater the need the higher the rate and for this filthy lucre you permit your morbid appetite for gain to incite you to ask of your borrowers to make you unconscionable and inequitable contracts therefore it is for the welfare happiness and prosperity of our people that you be content with such interest as they can afford to pay you by using their utmost exertions" Again Borrower says that it is legislation against a class Certainly is a pity that our legislators cannot devise laws that will benefit all and not fool away so much of their valuable time in legislating against monopolies fish wheels etc and in favor of the producing class the manufacturing class the laboring class etc No the people of Oregon do not demand a repeal of the usury law for it is one of our most sacred laws Too many farms are being absorbed by our present exorbitant contract rate of interest to warrant any such action It is an admitted fact that money lending is the most lucrative legitimate business in Oregon to day and the supply of money is at present far greater than the demand although offered at 2 per cent less than the contract rate hence there is no necessity for repealing the usury law in order to allow a few minor lenders in remote vicinities to extort exorbitant rates of interest According to Borrower the legislature should repeal the laws providing for the care and maintenance of the idiotic imbeciles etc which he mentions for this is legislation against a class—the taxpayers If the usury law benefits nine farmers and is no special benefit to the tenth man a banker then Borrower steps in and says to the legislature Gentlemen this usury law benefits nine-tenths of our people while it is against one-tenth therefore I command you to repeal it for the people have no right to say what shall be law or what shall not for our glorious constitution says the rights of all Oregonians shall be untrammeled W R

THE O R & N LEASE

PORTLAND Feb [illegible] 1887

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

The consummation of the lease of the O R & N company s system to the Union Pacific will be in my opinion new life—new vigorous life—added to that already enjoyed by Oregon. The Northern Pacific, from interested motives has for several years been anything but friendly to Oregon It seeks to serve itself I do not know that it should be blamed for so doing Corporations like individuals never send cash to their neighbors if they can appropriate it themselves

The Central Pacific which is reaching forward for Oregon s trade will certainly do everything possible first for itself next for California, and no more than circumstances compel for Oregon The Oregon Pacific uses all its influence against the bill because it desires and hopes to become in time the only through line The Union Pacific is a vast system a great body with numerous tails but no head Its situation though it stretches across half the continent has no outlet in its control to the ocean It rests with Oregon to give it that outlet and become the head of the entire system Already the main portion of the lumber used in construction of its rolling stock is hauled from Oregon and the iron from distant points over other companies lines to Omaha Oregon can furnish the iron as well as the lumber or should it inertly fail to do so It can be landed by sea in Oregon at least as cheaply as by rail at Omaha. Union Pacific agents affirm that if the lease is consummated all the rolling stock will be built in Oregon for the reason that it can be done here 20 per cent cheaper than at Omaha. When the vast ramifications of the Union Pacific lines are considered none can fail to see the benefits which would thereby be conferred on Oregon Further the Union Pacific traverses a territory where the lumber, fruits fish and other products such as Oregon supplies do not exist. The interests of the company would compel the making of such rates as would afford a profitable outlet for vast quantities of what can now only be regarded as waste surplus products. One continuous line under one board of direction can be operated far more cheaply than two lines and far more advantageously to the people for the reason that each of the two lines will consider its business individually and each try to make the most possible out of its own territory and each other whilst the one company will consider it collectively and make liberal terms to secure or create great business for the long haul I am convinced that if the lease is consummated we shall witness an unprecedented expansion of trade and general prosperity which the Union Pacific, in its efforts to benefit itself, will naturally confer on Oregon Be it remembered the state will not lose the right to legislate for the part of the system lying within its boundaries.

THE LEGISLATURE.

vented from finishing their road on account of the weather. They did the best they could.

Simon reviewed the history of the Willamette Valley and Coast railroad, which, in 1874, was granted all the tide lands in Benton county, on condition that it would complete its road in five years. It was also granted exemption from taxes. The time was extended on two separate occasions, but the provisions of the act had not been complied with. The road had not been completed up to this very hour. The Willamette Valley and Coast railroad was being operated by the Oregon Pacific. The state had never made any grant to the Oregon Pacific, or exempted them from taxes, but he understood from the citizens of Benton county that the Oregon Pacific paid no taxes. The Willamette Valley and Coast railroad had always claimed in litigation that their road was not finished. There was a suit now pending in the supreme court where they set up as a defense that the road was in an incomplete condition. There could be no harm whatever in an investigation.

Miller—It seems to me—I move to adjourn.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

On motion of Cauthorn the Willamette Valley and Coast railway resolution was taken up.

Miller said it seemed to him that there was something in the resolution not generally understood. This resolution, as it reads, entirely ignores the act of the last legislature. He was a member of the committee that investigated at the last legislature, and he thought they investigated the matter to the satisfaction of all the parties concerned. He had not heard any complaint since, and it seemed strange that this resolution should be introduced, entirely ignoring the work done at the last session. There was something peculiar about this. What act did the resolution refer to, 1874 or 1878? The company came before the legislature at the last session and showed that they had done honest work, and the legislature was satisfied. Miller objected to the last section of the resolution, as it did not state what legislature they were to report to—two, four or six years hence.

[illegible] said he was sorry Cauthorn had called the resolution from the table. He then went on to quote the law, to the effect that the land between ebb and flow of the tide belonged to the state, and they could grant it to whomever they pleased. There were no riparian rights on such lands. Another thing to be taken into consideration was that the grant of these lands was a grant of purchase, and not of gift, given under consideration of the completion of this road. The best place for this resolution was on the table. It was a question for the courts, not the legislature.

Siglin said let the matter come to a vote, and no more speeches.

A motion to indefinitely postpone prevailed.

CABLE NOTES.

A terrific gale prevails in St. George's channel and the river Tyne. Steamers are detained.

The Suez canal is blockaded by the grounding of a steamer belonging to the Austrian Lloyds.

The Metzer Zeitung says: Four regiments of infantry are about to be sent to reinforce the garrison at Metz.

The Berlin Post's article on the situation in France has produced a profound sensation throughout Europe.

A dispatch from Paris says President Grevy and Premier Goblet are making a superhuman effort to prevent an outbreak of war.

In all the theaters in Berlin extensive preparations are being made for special performances in honor of Emperor William's birthday.

The Berlin Tageblatt confirms the announcement of the calling out of the reserves, and says that the drilling of men will be begun in the western provinces.

It is rumored that owing to the fact that French orders have been sent to a factory at Steyr, the government will prohibit the exportation of arms and war material.

Thirteen Alsace-Lorraine members elected to the last reichstag have issued an electoral manifesto, in which they say, if re-elected, they will vote against the septennate.

The Belgian government, it is expected, will demand of the chambers an appropriation of 80,000,000 francs for military purposes, one-fourth of it for the purchase of rifles.

Minister Von Hoffman, secretary of state for Alsace-Lorraine, contends that a vast majority of the people of the province do not want France to go to war for the re-conquest of the province.

The Paris Temps refuses to regard as serious the attacks of the German papers upon France. It says: "They are due to the electoral game which is to be the triumph of imperialism or parliamentism."

There was a gloomy feeling on the London stock exchange Thursday. At the close of business prices were the worst of the day. French, Italian, Russian and Hungarian securities were down 2 to 3½ per cent. Consols in the afternoon sold heavily. Prices relapsed from the opening 1 11-16 for money, and 1 for account. The average fall in English railway securities was 3½ per cent., and in American 1 to 2.

The majority of the newspapers of Vienna praise France for the soberness with which she treats German alarms, and express impatience at what they term Bismarck's wanton provocation. Die Neue Freie Presse exhorts France not to fall into the trap that has been set for her, but to keep Bismarck to his word, which binds him before the world. The official press is more reserved, but expresses faith in Germany's prudence and love of peace.

The Cologne Gazette, in an article headed "All the War Apprehensions Justified," points out that France is preparing to form, in the shortest time possible, in the event of a war in the spring, a strategical line, which she delayed forming in 1870. Germany must, therefore, take needful counter measures, or summon France to reduce her frontier garrisons. The Gazette further announces that the government will take the necessary steps to prevent Alsace-Lorraine from being overrun by French troops immediately on a declaration of war.

FRANCE AND GERMANY.

BISMARCK AND BOULANGER.

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—The National Gazette states that Herbelt, French embassador to Germany, in a recent interview with Bismarck, tried to reassure the chancellor regarding Gen. Boulanger's position and intentions.

COMMERCIAL.

THURSDAY, Feb. 3.

Overland receipts include 204 sks corn, 97 bals 68 pcs iron pipe, 511 empty kegs, 300 bdls newspaper, 210 rls barbed wire, 5 hf 10 bbls 10 kegs 110 cs molasses, 120 bxs stamped ware, 136 plates iron, 5 bbls pork, 40 bdls wood rakes, 3 cs shoes, 1 cs underwear, 2 cs 3 bls c. p. goods, 5 cs chocolate, 25 cs 40 drums 7 butts tobacco, 1 cs cigars, 2 cs cigarettes, 20 bls domestics, 15 bls bagging, 1 cs corsets, 13 bxs 2 tcs 3 caks 95 bbls glassware.

Str Santa Maria at San Francisco from Yaquina bay landed 5917 sks wheat, 167 sks oats, 79 bxs apples, 4 cs eggs, 18 bdls hides, 2 bls skins, 34 cords cedar, 8000 ft lumber.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past twenty-four hours: 1758 ctls wheat, 98 sks potatoes, 435 bxs fruit, — cs eggs, 12 pkgs dried fruit, 342 sheep, 39 cattle.

FREIGHTS—No tonnage movement for the week, and the market is wholly without new interest. At Astoria the J. B. Brown, James Stafford, Argonaut, Snow & Burgess, Raglan Castle, Clan Grant and Arica are ready for sea. Here the Ballochmyle, Bessfield, Patterdale and Hornby Castle are in different stages of loading, and the Eudora practically filled up for Hong Kong. The Sulitelma is down river, bound to home port in ballast.

WHEAT—Receipts for the week 375 tons valley and 1114 tons Walla Walla, against 887 and 184 tons the same week last year and 1193 and 953 tons the preceding week last year.

New York has gained ⅛@⅝c in the week and Chicago about ⅝c, the gain being established at the close of Wednesday's business. San Francisco, after showing a slight decline, closed about where it was a week ago. Liverpool late futures gained a trifle, early options showing no change. London cargoes close steady to weak, marking no decided change for the week. All the while they have been dull under a light request. Figures regarding imports and quantities afloat are not materially changed. This showing indicates a high degree of dullness and the local market under home as well as outside influences has shown nothing of interest. Transactions have been few and far between, not even keeping pace with the limited offerings. Prices obtainable are hardly as good as a week ago, for best valley bids are $1 40@1 41. Millers seem to have taken less interest and have been less active competitors. Several lots are mentioned as having been offered and bringing out bids as above. The figures may be used as a quotation. Walla Walla is no business and light receipt, the grade being quoted only in a nominal way at $1 30@1 32½. Holders will not accept these figures, and shippers, in the absence of any need, are not talking more.

The New Zealand Loan and Mercantile agency furnishes the following estimate of wheat surplus of the Australasian harvest of 1886-87.

NEW SOUTH WALES.	Bushels of 60 lbs. Surplus.	Deficiency
Estimated requirements, consumption and seed....7,000,000
Less 1886 crop..........4,250,000		2,750,000
The total yield of last year, per Consular report was 2,768,320 and that for the previous year, 1884 5, was 4,263,394. The present harvest is reported the best for many years, so that 4,250,000 should be an under estimate.
QUEENSLAND.
Latest reports indicate total failure of crop; requirements say..........		2,000,000
WESTERN AUSTRALIA, TASMANIA, FIJI, NEW CALEDONIA, ETC.
Requirements..........		1,000,000
VICTORIA.
Estimated surplus for export..	4,850,000
SOUTH AUSTRALIA.
Latest estimated surplus for export, 200,000 tons, per telegram to London..........	7,400,000
NEW ZEALAND.
Too early for estimate, but crop reports to end of December, fairly favorable; take last year's exports, £161,000, say 900,000 bushels..........	900,000
	13,150,000	5,750,000
Surplus available for export		7,400,000
		13,150,000

From the above it would appear that if the most recent estimates regarding the Victorian and South Australian crops are right the Australasian colonies should have an available surplus for foreign export of at least 200,000 tons.

MILLSTUFF—Higher prices quoted. Stocks very light and request good. With light grinding of late the supply promises small. Quote bran $16@17, chop $20@22, shorts $20@21.

OATS—Receipts for a week 3001 centals, the movement falling away. The supply locally has not been large and in a retail way dealers secured 50c against 48c as best figure from shippers. The San Francisco market has eased off some under liberal stocks and offerings of Nebraska oats and corn, quite a quantity of the latter offering. Again, operators are looking ahead to the 1st of March, when the tax gatherer will be around. Perhaps no early improvement may be looked for under present circumstances, yet a lessening of supplies from Oregon and Washington may lend some tone. The steamer at San Francisco 25th ult. from the Sound had but 352 sacks. With the limited trade now passing here it is not easy to quote closely. Present holdings bought at the extremes of two weeks ago represent some little loss. Now 46@47c is all that can be quoted for shipment, although 48c might be had for extra choice.

POULTRY—Chickens have seemingly been in fair receipt, yet the market closes rather better, $3@4 being quoted. Cold weather either helps the request or restricts offerings. Other poultry is without new interest, only a small movement noted. Ducks $4@6, geese $6@7, turkeys about 8@10c.

EGGS—On Tuesday some dealers advanced demands, and on Wednesday others fell into line, asking 25 to 30c. The market closes at this, but with an uncertain front, as it is thought supplies will be large within a few days. At no time have they been below demands, and the advance was started by holders of fair stocks.

GREEN FRUIT—Apples in light dealing, choice only being in request. Quote 40@50c. Oranges selling at $3@7. Lemons $5 50.

BUTTER—California roll and pickled roll in heavy stock and weak, roll selling at 21c and pickled at 18@19c. The quality is excellent. Local necessarily weak at 20@22½c for best roll. Solid and poor roll hard to move.

POTATOES—While the shipping market has improved only slightly our dealers have paid more and choice Burbanks sold up to $1 30, Garnets $1 15 @1 20. The best figures are for large sized choice only, dealers discriminating closely as to size of the tuber. Receipts rule light, as there is little hauling done at present. The supply of really choice is thought to be rather light.

ONIONS—Receipts free and market firm under advices. Dealers have paid up to $1 25, the quotation now being $1 15@1 25, with a good tone to the market.

THE MEAT MARKET.

Cold weather brings a rather lessened supply and enhances cost of keeping. Prices on beef and mutton show a slight advance, 4@4½c being quoted for both on foot. While dressed is still quoted 7c. there is a decided disposition to advance. Veal scarce and firm at 8@10c. Hogs in only fair receipt and firm at 3@3½c and 5c for live and dressed.

The Record
Of cures accomplished by Hood's Sarsaparilla can never be completely written. Thousands with hearts overflowing with gratitude have written to us telling of the wonderful things Hood's Sarsaparilla has accomplished for them. The peculiar curative powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla are successful when everything else has failed. If your blood is impure, your digestion out of order, your kidneys and liver inactive, your body tired and full of aches and pains, try this peculiar medicine. It will do you good.
"Our little girl, nineteen months old, was troubled with scrofulous sores. Her eyes were in a terrible condition, and her nose all covered with scab. Physicians said they could not cure her. We commenced giving her Hood's Sarsaparilla, and now, after using two bottles in the past three months, her face and eyes are clear of the sores, and her appetite has returned. We feel very thankful for finding so valuable a medicine as Hood's Sarsaparilla to save our child."
